Peace Parley Negotiations At Standstill

U.S. Envoy Asks Reds If They Are Ready To End Attempt for Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied and Communist diplomats made no progress today toward setting up a Korean peace conference and U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean asked the Reds if they were ready to break off the preliminary talks.

The Reds retorted with a long tirade, then acknowledged that the negotiations are at a standstill and said they would answer Dean tomorrow.

Blanked Again

A few miles from the scene of the deadlocked talks, Allied explainers failed for the eighth straight day to win back a single South Korean war prisoner who chose to stay with the Communists.

Indian paratrooper guards broke up sitdown strikes staged by most of the 30 ROK captives in an apparent effort to tie up the interviews.

Explainers have talked with 250 South Koreans to date and have 78 more to see.

Then the U. N. Command is expected to call for 22 Americans and 1 Briton who stayed with the Reds.

Won't Retreat

Dean told Communist diplomats he would do everything possible to carry out the Bermuda conference call for a Korean peace parley. But he said there would be no retreat from his insistence that Russia attend the conference as a full participant.

Communist demands that the Soviet Union be invited as a neutral observer have stalemated the preliminary talks.

The spokesman for 7 Allied nations which fought in Korea said Tuesday he would wait only a reasonable time for the Communists to come to terms. He set no time limit, but a high Allied source said the American delegation would leave Panmunjom by Dec. 20 to be home for Christmas.

Charges U. S. Domination

North Korean delegate Ki Sok Bok accused the United States of attempting to dominate the United Nations and the nations represented by Dean.

Dean called Ki's statement "a rude and insolent tirade."

After a Communist attack on the voting procedures he outlined for the political conference, Dean told the Communists they "forget that our side is composed of free nations. It is not similar to the situation on your side where all nations are compelled to speak with the same voice—to echo the voice of the Communisty party line as dictated from the Kremlin."

Igor Gouzenko Agrees To Meet U.S. Spy Probe

OTTAWA (AP)—Igor Gouzenko has agreed to a secret meeting with representatives of the United States internal security subcommittee, the Canadian Press reported today.

Gouzenko is the former code clerk in the Russian Embassy here who turned himself over to Canadian authorities in 1945 with a mass of evidence which broke open a spy ring with ramifications in Canada, the United States and Britain. Since then he has been living under the protection of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Canada approved Gouzenko's meeting with the U.S. senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) with the provision that the session be held under Canadian auspices and that this country have the power of veto over what information would be made public as a result of the questioning.

Gouzenko has been quoted in various interviews as saying that he had valuable information for the U.S. investigators, and alternately that he had no new information to offer.

It was not known today when the questioning will take place. It may be held in Ottawa, but this is not definite.

Heckle Marshall

Reds Demonstrate At Oslo Ceremony

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Communist demonstrators shouting "this is no peace candidate" today interrupted the formal ceremonies awarding the 1953 Nobel Peace Prize to Gen. George C. Marshall.

A stunned audience at the Oslo University festival watched as the demonstrators showered anti-Marshall leaflets upon them.

The audience had come to witness the presentation to Marshall in recognition of the 17 billion dollar postwar European aid plan which bore his name.

The $33,840 in prize money, a citation scroll and gold medal were handed to Marshall in ceremonies here.

Accepts for Schweitzer

French Ambassador Louis de Monicault also accepted the 1952 peace prize on behalf of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famed African jungle doctor, humanitarian, philosopher and musical authority.

The other four 1953 prizes from the fortune left by Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, were to be presented later today in similar ceremonies in Stockholm, Sweden. They go to Britain's Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, for literature; Dr. Franz Albert Lipmann of Harvard University and Dr. Hans Adolph Krebs of England's Sheffield University, both German-born, for medicine; Holland's Dr. Frits Zernike, for physics; and West Germany's Dr. Herman Staudinger, for chemistry.

Wife to Accept

Churchill's wife will accept the prize for her husband, who leaves Bermuda tonight after the Big Three conference.

Marshall, who will be 73 Dec. 31, was the 12th American to win the peace prize, first given in 1901.

Norway's 81-year-old King Haakon VII headed the glittering audience which packed Oslo University's Festival Hall to applaud as the soldier-statesman mounted the rostrum.

The presentation was made by Gunnar Jahn, president of the Nobel committee named by the Norwegian Parliament to make the award.

Just before, Carl Joachim Hambro, who often has represented Norway in the League of Nations and the United Nations, explained the prize was "not given to Marshall for all he accomplished during the war."

"What he has done after the war to prepare for peace is the corollary of this achievement, and it is this great work for the establishment of peace the Nobel com-

Nobel Awards Received From Swedish Ruler

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish Nobel Foundation today honored five men famed in science or letters, but the most famous of them, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, was not on hand to receive his literature prize.

Instead, his smiling wife, Lady Churchill, curtsied to King Gustaf Adolph and accepted the diploma, medal and $33,840 check. The Bermuda conference prevented the British Prime Minister from attending the ceremony.

Similar awards from the fortune left by Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, went to four scientists:

Chemistry—Dr. Hermann Saudinger, 72, of Freiburg, West Germany.

Physics—Prof. Frits Zernike, 65, of Groningen, Netherlands.

Medicine—Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Hans Adolph Krebs, 54, of Sheffield, England. Both are German-born.

Each laureate heard a lengthy tribute from a leading Swedish expert in his field before stepping down carpeted steps from the platform to where King Gustaf Adolf awaited him in the front row of the jam - packed Stockholm Concert Hall.

There he was handed an embossed leather folio containing his illuminated citation, the check and a golden plaque.

Zernike's was the 10th Nobel prize to go to the Netherlands and the first in years awarded for classical physics rather than for atomic or nuclear work. His achievement: a microscope so fine it enables his fellow scientists to get a closer view of living matter than has ever been possible before.

Staudinger, 72-year-old "Father of the Plastic Age," has spent more than 30 years of his life studying the complex strings of giant molecules which make up the multitude of modern synthetics.

Krebs and Lipmann, long-time friends, had worked in closely related fields of medical science on opposite sides of the ocean.

Hot Ashes Won't Be Collected Due To Danger of Fire

A warning that city garbage and refuse collection crews will not pick up baskets of hot ashes was issued to Marion residents today by John Davis, sanitation department superintendent.

He said the collection crews may not pick up baskets or boxes of hot ashes because of the danger of fire inside the refuse collecting trucks.

Hot ashes often contain live coals and this results in setting fire to other refuse inside the collection truck bodies, he explained. This has happened a number of times since the new enclosed garbage trucks were placed in service and the department has now decided not to attempt to collect any hot ashes, he said.

Residents desiring the city crews to pick up ashes are advised to wet them down or be sure there are no hot coals.

Vishinsky's Stand Chills U.N. Morale

Optimism Following Ike's Address Fades As Assembly Recesses

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Delegates headed home today from the eighth U. N. General Assembly hopeful that President Eisenhower's call for an atomic power pool might lead to peace, but apprehensive over the chill blast it brought from Moscow.

As the Assembly recessed last night, many delegates admitted privately that the hopes Eisenhower's speech had inspired were considerably dashed by the Moscow Radio charge that the President's address "threatened atomic war" and proved that the Western Big Three "do not want to ease international tension."

Lowers Morale

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky also lowered the general morale last night when he indicated to the Assembly that Russia would reject Eisenhower's call for an atomic pool for peace.

Vishinsky declared that "without the adoption of a decision on the unconditional prohibition of atomic weapons, no strengthening of peace and international cooperation can be achieved."

Delegates tried to derive some comfort from the fact that the Moscow blast was not billed as official Kremlin reaction and that Vishinsky had not given a flat turn-down to the Eisenhower plan.

They admitted, however, that neither Vishinsky nor the Moscow Radio would be apt to comment on such a vital issue without getting the green light from the Soviet government.

Soviet Reaction Asked

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, the Assembly president, disclosed that at the U. N. reception following his speech Tuesday, Eisenhower asked her what Vishnisky thought of the address. She obligingly walked over to the Russian and asked him

Vishinsky reportedly replied that it was a better talk than he had expected, but "where is the ban?" This was a reference to Russia's perennial demands for an immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb.

At last night's closing session, Mrs. Pandit told the 60-nation assembly that Eisenhower's speech had affirmed "man's desperate need" for assurances of peace in the atomic era. She added that she hoped the chiefs of state of Russia, Britain and France also would have a chance to address the world forum.

Ammo Truck Blows Up, Iowa Town Given Scare

MALVERN, Iowa (AP)—An ammunition truck which burned after sideswiping with another semi-trailer gave this town of 1,400 a taste last night of what it's like to sweat out an artillery barrage.

The gasoline tank of the ammunition carrier caught fire following the collision and its cargo of 105-mm. shells started exploding.

Wider Social Security Plan Seen by Reed

New York Legislator Predicts Increase in Federal Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) predicted today the House Ways and Means Committee will act quickly next year to "broaden and strengthen" the social security program.

Reed, in a statement, suggested three specific reforms in the system now providing government death or retirement benefit coverage to some 65 million workers:

1. Extension of the system to cover millions "who have been arbitrarily denied this protection in the past." President Eisenhower has proposed extending coverage to about 10½ million doctors, lawyers, farmers and others. Reed avoided a commitment to any specific number or group.

2. An increase in the present $25 minimum monthly retirement benefit, "to provide a more realistic floor of protection for those now retired."

3. Liberalizing a present clause which denies retirement benefits to persons between 65 and 75 years of age who make $75 monthly or more in employment covered by the system. About 1,400,000 otherwise eligible aged persons now are denied payments under this clause.

At the same time, Reed repeated his opposition to Eisenhower's proposal to cancel a scheduled Jan. 1 increase in social security taxes. The rate jumps up automatically from 1½ to 2 per cent of wages up to $3,600 annually, paid by workers and employers alike.

"I believe the American people want social security and are willing to pay for it," Reed said.

Fear Soviet Trickery

Congressmen Shy At Atom Proposal

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fear of possible Russian trickery threatened today to impede future congressional approval for President Eisenhower's proposal to pool atomic energy materials and know-how for peaceful purposes.

Although Eisenhower told the United Nations he had "every expectation of approval" by Congress of a plan to encourage worldwide, nonmilitary atomic developments, some lawmakers foresaw difficulties.

Test of Soviet Intentions

Many lawmakers, however, hailed the Eisenhower proposal as a bold stroke for peace, and as one which would test the Russians' intentions.

As for the Russians, they gave no indication they would accept the President's proposal of Tuesday.

Moscow radio accused Eisenhower of threatening atomic war. The Communist party paper Pravda carried an 800-word account of the speech with the single comment: "However the President . . . did not express his attitude to the question of outlawing atomic weapons." Washington has repeatedly urged international atomic controls, but has been unable to get Moscow to agree to an inspection system acceptable here.

Cites Control Issue

At the U. N., Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky said it would be impossible to insure the use of atomic energy for peace without strict international control of weapons.

In Congress, Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said he thinks the "danger spot" in the proposed international program lies in inability of this country to exact any guarantee that Soviet Russia will live up to any agreement it might make. He added in an interview:

"The President certainly has a good idea if it can be accomplished but I don't see how we are ever going to be certain that the Soviets will live up to any pledges they may make.

"For my own part, I don't believe they are ever going to deviate from their ultimate objective of world conquest. I don't believe it is likely they will ever give us any of the benefits of their research in exchange for any information we might give them."

Sen. Johnson Comments

Sen. Olin D. Johnson (D-SC) said:

"We are not going to dump our atomic secrets into the Russians' laps until we know what they are going to do with them. I can't understand why we should spend all of this money investigating Russian espionage and then would turn over our secrets to them."

Sen. Burke (D-Ohio) said he hopes the United States does not come up with "a bad bargain" as the result of Eisenhower's offer.

"If the Russians made an agreement and then broke it, we would very well be in hot water," he said.

Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kan) said he thinks that before Congress will agree to turn over any fissionable material to an international agency—as Eisenhower said might be done—it will want "some cast-iron guarantees that the Russians are going to cooperate."

Three Children Slain, 2 Hurt By Ohio Father

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A jobless, hymn-singing miner killed three of his five little children yesterday with a crowbar and his feet and critically injured the other two.

"God told me to kill the children to save them from the tortures and torment of the devil," Frank Holt, 34, was quoted as telling Jefferson County Prosecutor Bernard T. McCann last night.

Holt was walking around his front yard, humming a hymn when Deputy Sheriff Russell Wilsac arrived at the home, 17 miles northwest of here in the village of East Springfield. The deputy said Holt kept humming hymns and seemed calm during a half-hour auto ride to jail.

Three of Holt's small sons were dead when Wilsac got there — Tracy, 1; Sidney, 2; and Sanford 6.

The other two children—Susan, 4, and Doren, 5—were unconscious at Ohio Valley Hospital today, their skulls fractured. Hospital at-

Truman, McCarthy Invited To Debate Communism Issue

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The chairman of the Harvard Law School Forum said today he has invited Harry S. Truman and Sen. Joseph McCarthy to debate on communism in this country.

Herschel Shanks, the chairman, said he sent the invitations Dec. 2 but has not yet heard from either.

Shanks reported the invitation to Truman said:

"We are inviting you as a trusted and beloved champion of civil liberties and bitter opponent of 'McCarthyism' to share the same platform with the man who has done more than any other to sow fear and mistrust among the American people through his methods—Senator Joseph McCarthy."

In his invitation to the senator, Shanks said:

"We are inviting you as a major national figure representing one point of view to share the same platform with the man who has done his utmost to deprecate your efforts and accomplishments through his own power and the power of those who follow his lead —Harry S. Truman."

Russian Propaganda Blast Dampens Atom Plan Hope

Proposal Hit By Moscow Commentator

Branded as 'Rehash' Of Baruch's Formula; Official Reply Awaited

LONDON (AP)—Soviet spokesmen gave strong indications last night that the Kremlin wants no part of President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic energy pool for peaceful uses.

There was no "official" reply from the Soviet government, but a top propaganda commentator on Moscow radio, Boris Leontyev, described the American proposal as a rehash of the Baruch atomic control plan the Russians have always rejected. Leontyev added that the U. S. President had "threatened atomic war."

Vishinsky Comments

In the United Nations Assembly, Russian Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared: "You cannot insure the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes without unconditional prohibition and strict international control (of atomic weapons)."

U.N. deliberations on atomic energy control have been deadlocked for several years by Russia's insistence on an immediate ban and the West's counterdemand for a workable control and inspection system first.

The initial Soviet reaction came as the Western world generally applauded the plan, outlined by Eisenhower Tuesday in a speech before the U.N. Assembly. Newspapers in India also welcomed it as a "rent, however small, in the atomic curtain."

Reflects Official View

Although some Western sources still expressed a faint hope that the official Soviet answer might be more favorable, the first Russian comment obviously had been cleared with Kremlin propaganda and foreign affairs authorities before it was made public.

Outlining his plan for a U.N. commission to which atomic powers, including Russia, would contribute fissionable materials and skill for peaceful purposes that would benefit the whole world, Eisenhower warned that man must control atomic power or it will destroy him.

He declared the growing U.S. stockpile of atomic weapons "exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of all bombs and shells dropped or fired all over the world during World War II."

'Policy of Force' Charged

Seizing on this part of the speech, Leontyev said: "There is a spate of phrases on an alleged desire for peace on the part of the United States . . . But if you analyze his speech, Eisenhower threatened atomic war and made a eulogy of this policy of force."

"It is clear that the United States does not want to bring about an international detente (relaxing of strained relations)," he continued. "The warmongering speech of President Eisenhower and the attitude adopted in the United Nations by the U. S. delegation proves this sufficiently."

Repeatedly Vetoed

In his talk, broadcast first in French and then in English, Leontyev termed the President's plan merely another dressed-up version of the atomic control system presented to the United Nations June 14, 1946, by America's Bernard Baruch.

This plan, calling for an international system of control and inspection leading to outlawing of atomic weapons, has been approved by the majority of U. N.

Hopes To Change His Mind

Mother of Red GI Starts For Korea To Visit Son

SEATTLE (AP)—The Minnesota mother of a GI who says he doesn't want to return to democracy left here last night with hope and a prayer in her heart that she can change his mind.

The mother is Mrs. Portia Howe, 43, of Alden, Minn., and the son is Pfc. Richard Tenneson, 20, one of 22 Americans taken prisoner by Communist forces in Korea and now unwilling to return to his homeland.

Mrs. Howe flew from here cheered by assurances from Tokyo that the Far East Command has said it "would be happy to discuss problems and possibilities" with her about getting into the Korean demilitarized zone to talk with Tenneson.

The spokesman for the command wouldn't promise that Mrs. Howe could talk to the son but said it would go into the situation with her and "see what can be done."

In Panmunjom, an Indian spokesman offered further hope when he said he believed the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission would make no objection if the American command wants the mother to make explanations to her son.

The Indian spokesman said the rules only limited the number of persons used as explainers who could be of either sex or civilian or military personnel.

Mrs. Howe said here she is convinced she can get her son to come home.

"Supposedly," she told a reporter, "he has rejected his nation and God for communism. I don't believe this was voluntary. I believe the mother-and-son contact will do it because it is backed by prayer. This is a battle between the forces of evil and the forces of God."

She should arrive in Tokyo late today, a Northwest Airlines spokesman said.

Sailplane Methods Used in Air Flights

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UP) — A new fight research technique originally developed for sailplanes is now being used here to improve engine airplanes.

It consists of long glides from 20,000 feet to 10,000 feet with both engines of a Lockheed Lodestar stopped and the propellers feathered.

After the "dead-stick" test, drag measurements with the engines going are made to give a comparison of the power required in gliding flight with that of flight under power and point up modifications in design needed for increased speed without an increase in gasoline consumption.

Dr. August Raspet, head of the aerophysics department of Mississippi State College, is computing the drag and efficiency of the Lodestar. To duplicate these tests would require the use of a full-scale wind tunnel which does not exist in a size large enough to contain the Lodestar.

"Even if such a wind tunnel did exist," Dr. Raspet said, " 'tunnel wall' effects and flow turbulence would subject the tests to serious errors.

"Furthermore, by utilizing the sky as a wind tunnel, these flight measurements are made at a considerable lower cost."

He said tests already have resulted in an increase in cruising speed of 50 miles per hour with no increase in horsepower.

Danger Treatments

CHICAGO (UP) — Eczema has a thousand causes and home treatment may make it worse, according to an article in Today's Health magazine.

Dr. Robert P. Little, of Middlebury, Vt., and S. G. Mullins.

The warned that a druggist or a well-meaning friend may diagnose the type of eczema incorrectly and advise the wrong treatment.

"Put yourself in htehands of a qualified dermatologist," they advised.

Prisoners Interested

BOSTON (UP) — Prisoners are interested in the weather, too.

Chief Meterologist Oscar Tanenbaum of the U. S. Weather Bureau here says that on an average of once in six months he gets a letter from a man in prison.

"He wants to know the weather conditions at a certain place at a definite time," says Tanenbaum. "Presumably he thinks he has been wrongly judged, and hopes to establish facts that will free him."

Something Besides Fear

President Eisenhower's idea for international development of nuclear fission's non-military uses has taken hold quickly for an obvious reason.

There is a hunger in mankind for something better than fear. Terrorism has been served up so relentlessly for so many years that a proposal for giving men a chance to breathe easier is almost revolutionary in its implications.

This may prove to be the weakness in the President's idea—that it may be incredible to minds made skeptical and suspicious by too much bad will and danger.

That may be its reception in the Kremlin, where bad will has been a conerstone of national policy. The President had to take that chance when he made his proposal, just as he had to take the chance his motives would be misinterpreted by some of his own countrymen.

It can be assumed, since Prime Minister Churchill was in direct communication with him for several days before his address to the United Nations General Assembly, that President Eisenhower has been promised the full cooperation of Great Britain in carrying out his plan for constructive atomic research under United Nations auspices.

It can be assumed further that the United States and Great Britain hope to demonstrate, either with or without the cooperation of the Soviet Union, the only other government which possesses atomic weapons, that the atomic ear could become a golden age for all mankind if atomic war were averted.

Men tired of being force-fed each day on evidence that they can be destroyed by atomic power cannot be blamed for welcoming this hint that they could just as easily be saved by it.

Test of a Republic

The opening arguments before the U.S. Supreme Court on the school segregation cases this week brought the issue into clear focus.

All further arguments will be an attempt to hold it in clear focus while members of the highest court are given the evidence on which their decisions will be made.

This method of settling grave issues is at once the highest triumph and the severest test of popular government. A mistake on the part of the Supreme Court or on the part of the sovereign people in the segregation cases could do as much damage as the tragic fumble in the Dred Scott case a century ago.

No one close to the government underestimates the vital importance of the segregation cases. No one who believes in the American dream underestimates their importance.

Without prejudging the cases, Americans can hope that the judicial decision which finally is made will strike a proper balance between what is and what should be.

The United States cannot be transplanted from the past into the future without going through the realities of the present. The Supreme Court is responsible for an orderly transition based on constitutional law.

It is responsible for striking a balance between conflicting points of view which are neither all right nor all wrong.

It is responsible for rendering a judgment which reasonable men can support—a judgment on which men of good will can come to a compromise.

Several months will be required for the Supreme Court to hear all the arguments in these cases and to make its decision. During this time every American aware of the importance of the decision would do well to prepare his own mind for the most critical of all tests of a republic's right to endure—ability to settle a violent controversy without violence.

Master of the Unexpected

While politicians and people who make a business of explaining what politicains are doing are figuring the angles on Gov. Lausche's announcement that he will be a candidate for a fifth-term nomination next May, there is one fact about Frank Lausche that needs no figuring.

He is a master of the unexpected in politics. It is the secret of his political personality — a secret worth knowing since he is serving an unprecedented fourth term in the Ohio governorship and thinks he can stretch it to five.

Lausche was in danger of getting into a rut by waiting until the last minute to announce his political decisions. He had done this so many times it had become a Lausche characteristic.

So this time he created a sensation by being the first to announce, instead of the last. The result: What a great many Ohioans were sure he was going to do anyway and what would have been no surprise when it was done became a surprise because it was done unexpectedly.

In show business, they call this "timing." There is no special name for it in politics, but the essence of the political art is to keep the public talking. No one knows how to do it better than Gov. Lausche.

Another step in the education of a mother of boys is the discovery that the costly sweater doesn't come with the football letter.

Eisenhower Masterpiece

By David Lawrence

U.N. Speech Unequalled as Peace 'Weapon'

As a piece of psychological strategy in the "cold war," President Eisenhower's historic speech before the United Nations General Assembly is one of the craftiest and most penetrating documents flung at the Soviet government since the battle of words began.

For the address brushes away with one fell swoop any ground for further accusations, inside or outside Russia, about "war mongering" or military threat to Soviet Russia by the Western Powers.

It puts squarely up to the Kremlin the responsibility for helping to achieve or blocking a solution of the problem of international control of atomic energy.

WHETHER THE proposals by the President accomplish anything in the way of a practical agreement or merely remain as a challenge to the Soviet government, it was a master stroke to have assembled in the speech the challenging proposals it contained.

It was no ordinary pronouncement. It bears the earmarks of painstaking care given to every word over months and months of time.

In a sense, it appears as the consummation of a strategy evolved gradually by the National Security Council, of which the President is the head.

At first glance, it might seem that the old proposals which provided for inspection and a system of periodic disclosure of atomic weapons have been abandoned or at least put to one side for the time being.

A CAREFUL reading of all speech will reveal that there could be no "ratios of contributions" or "procedures" with respect to the allocation of uranium and fissionable materials without Soviet Russia's disclosure to the suggested international atomic energy agency of the basis for the distribution and, of course, some means of inspection to verify the accuracy of any figures used.

It will be difficult anyway to persuade Congress to change existing law to make such contributions but, on the other hand, it may be a long time before the Soviet Union gives concrete approval, and hence the proposal may continue to be simply a matter of academic controversy.

Entirely apart from the skillful proposal that peaceful uses of atomic energy be given top priority in international negotiation over control of atomic weapons — something that will bring worldwide approval and take the initiative from the Soviet propaganda machine — there were in the President's speech some chosen words of warning to the Kremlin which are also of sensational importance.

THREE STATEMENTS especially will be duly noted behind the Iron Curtain. The first is this:

"Today, the United States' stockpile of atomic weapons, which, of course, increases daily, exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of the total of all bombs and all shells that came from every plane and every gun in every theater of war through all the years of World War II."

That's a manner of describing the power of the United States from a quantitative basis. It cannot fail to impress the Soviets as to what has been done in secret since 1945 by America with billions of dollars of expenditure. It is really the first public disclosure of the power of our atomic stockpile.

THE NEXT statement of significance, designed as a reply to any "surprise aggression," contains this fateful warning unparalleled in history:

"Should such an atomic attack be launched against the United States, our reactions would be swift and resolute. But for me to say that the defense capabilities of the United States are such that they could inflict terrible losses upon an aggressor — for me to say that the retaliation capabilities of the United States are so great that such an aggressor's land would be laid waste — all this, while fact, is not the true expression of the purpose and the hope of the United States."

This is a masterpiece of inverted statement which appears not as a threat but nevertheless states as a "fact" that Soviet Russia would be laid waste if her government ever attempted a "surprise aggression."

The third statement of utmost significance was also phrased in an inverted style of expression, but it nevertheless gives a pointed warning:

"We will never say that the peoples of Russia are an enemy with whom we have no desire ever to deal or mingle in friendly and fruitful relationship."

IT WILL BE noted that the emphasis is on the "peoples of Russia," and this can be interpreted as a warning that the present government in Moscow will be dealt with only as it truly reflects the wishes of the people of the Soviet Union—a distinction of tremendous importance.

It could pave the way some day for a severance of relations with the present government if it shows itself to be a barrier to the assumed desire of the people of Soviet Russia to remain at peace with the West.

Unquestionably the main object of the Bermuda conference was to arrange for future meetings with the government of Soviet Russia and to go over the wording of the most important statement that the Western Allies have issued since the close of World War II.

Look What Wants In

Russia Stalling To Hide Weakness

By Jay G. Hayden

The biggest task ahead for President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill, and whoever may be the top French spokesman a month from now, is to escape an ultimate conclusion by world public opinion that they tumbled into a Russian bear trap at Bermuda.

Assuming that, as now projected, the conference of foreign ministers of the Big Three powers with Russia's Molotov assembles in Berlin next January 4, it almost certainly will cause delay on two vital fronts.

FRENCH POLITICIANS already stalling ratification of the European Defense Treaty, designed mainly to add German rearmament to that pact, have been handed an excuse for prolonging their obstruction for as long as the Berlin conference lasts.

Chinese and North Korean negotiators at Panmunjom, unless they radically change their ways, will continue their sitdown strike against Korean peace until they have thoroughly felt out the possibility of using that issue as a club with which to force their way into both the Berlin circle and the United Nations.

Arthur H. Dean, chief American envoy at Panmunjom, predicted last week that there would be no advance toward Korean peace until the United Nations Assembly adjourned.

Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. ambassador to Russia, clearly had in mind the Communist penchant for delay when he suggested that more important than fixing a date for opening the Berlin conference with Russia was settlement on a day certain for its adjournment.

RUSSIA'S FIRST line for procrastination is easy to see. From his rejection of a proposal by the Allies of a Big Four meeting at Lugano, Switzerland, in October, Molotov has focused on two points: First, "reducing international tension everywhere," and Second, insistence that Communist China is essential to discussion of that broad purpose.

The Western Powers, in contrast, have held to the position that European peace was a big enough first aim, and that even within that limitation the most to be hoped for is a fresh start on the specific problems of Germany and Austria.

In its latest note Russia edged over to the extent of consenting to an initial Big Four meeting, with Germany and Austria subjects for discussion, but with continued insistence that there could be no effective removal of world tensions without inclusion of Soviet China.

SEPARATE REPLIES by the U. S., Britain and France now express satisfaction that Russia finally has agreed to a Big Four meeting looking to "reunification of Germany in freedom and to the conclusion of an Austria state treaty," but adds, as an apparent sop to Kremlin viewpoint:

"The Soviet government has stated its desire to discuss the possibility of a five-power conference. The forthcoming meeting of the four foreign ministers will enable any participating government to state its views on this question."

If Russia accepts this Allied tender, the conference will open on a four-power basis. But there is nothing to prevent Molotov from immediately moving to invite Communist China and collateral events are made to order as a basis for arguments in support of that resolution.

MOLOTOV CAN point to the deadlock at Panmunjom as constituting a far greater threat to world peace, at the moment, than anything going on in Europe. With the mid-January deadline for release of Korean war prisoners disinclined to go home close at hand, it will be surprising if Syngman Rhee of South Korea and Premier Nehru of India, already embattled over prisoner release, do not inject some new fuel to keep that cauldron hot.

Equally available to Molotov's hand is the Indochina situation, in which a peace feeler has been put forward by Ho Chi Minh, the Communist rebel leader, with the apparent effect of dividing the French from the anti-Communist Vietnamese.

There can be no denial of the intimate relationship between French and American maintenance of the anti-Communist war in Indochina and resistance by members of the French Chamber of Deputies to ratification of the European Defense Pact.

NOT ONE of many experts on the European situation with whom this writer has talked believes there is the slightest possibility that Russia now will consent to get out of either East Germany or Austria. The reason they give for this opinion is that the Kremlin, for the first time since World War II, is dealing for weakness, rather than strength. For the time being at least it dare not back up anywhere.

The Russian aim therefore must continue to be to hold its line desperately, while maneuvering as best it can to conceal its own essential weakness and to make it appear that the West, and expecially Uncle Sam, is the deep-dyed villain.

Oh Doctor!

By TRUMAN TWILL

By the time the television repairman finally arrived, tension had reached the snapping point.

Ma was snapping at Pa and Pa was snapping at the kids. All of them were in a mood to snap at the repairman, who had promised to come the night before and had not kept his promise. The bum.

Reminded of this while he was unlimbering his scalpels and clamps, he explained mildly that he had been sick in bed the day before and was still under a doctor's care.

The only reason he was up and about, he pointed out, was because of compassion for his suffering customers stranded with nothing to look at but one another.

He wouldn't want to go through an ordeal like that at his house and wouldn't want any friend of his to go through it. A tear rolled down his cheek as he spoke and splashed on his little satchel of comfort.

No one ever should feel apologetic for getting him out of bed, he went on, because that was the way he made his living — keeping television sets in repair. But even so he was only human.

He had a wonderfully gentle bedside manner. His brow was deeply wrinkled in thought as he made an incision in the back of the oh-so-dark-and-silent gawk box and reached gently into its insides.

A second later his whole body was wrinkled as he withdrew his hand in a spasm of pain. "Plenty of voltage in there," he declared briskly. "The big thing in this business is to keep one hand in your pocket so you don't latch on to that voltage with both hands at the same time. Enough to kill you in there — amperage too."

For many minutes there was no other sound than the soft clinking of metal instruments in deft hands, the tinkle of glass tubes — and then, suddenly, there was light and sound and the familiar leering puss of a favorite comedian.

Oh joy! Oh rapture!

The family gathered at screenside, serene and happy once more. The doctor of electronics held aloft two little glass bulbs. "These were the trouble," he announced. "Aprodasta of the lower plastimansax. It happens all the time. That will be $9.37 with the tax."

Ma ain't snapping at Pa and Pa ain't snapping at the kids any more. The family is back on the big beam. And it's a comfort to know there is help close by if further trouble develops.

One thinks of pioneer days when an early settler might be reduced to chopping off a bad leg with the ax but never had been confronted with aprodasta of the lower plastimansax — when life didn't hang on quadruple stack lax exes, glare resistors and freedom from fringe-area fadeout.

These things can gnaw the joy of living down to a nubbin in no time at all. They can make those tense moments until the TV repairman comes with his little satchel of comfort and his bedside manner seem like eternity.

As the politician who goofs is fond of reminding us, he is only human, although that was not the opinion he expressed while running for the job.

The Annual Outcry

By MARK DANA

The Postoffice Department with exemplary patience and surely a sense of humor repeats each year in November and early December a plan to mail Christmas cards and gifts early, and seems not at all dismayed that very few folks do that.

If history repeats itself (and it will), local and other postal personnel will be swamped with mail about Dec. 20, and about Dec. 23 will be up to their ears in cards and parcels which they wanted to handle long before. Some will miss their own Christmas in order to live up to the motto of the Post-Office Department, authored by Herodotus, about nothing staying "these couriers from their appointed rounds."

Thus far, to its credit, the august department has not added to its mail-early entreaty the base reminder that the person who mails his gift parcels early stand a splendid chance of getting a return gift, while the package timed for delivery about Christmas Day may make the recipient remorseful about failure to reciprocate but naught more.

Young women learn early to send Christmas ties to their swains in plenty of time to get near-treasures in return before the fateful 25th, but then young women (and older ones, too) have a lot of such tricks up their sleeves.

Postal rates have been rising of late, and evidently the department needs money badly. Yet if it ever wants to try a normal merchandising stunt, it might offer reduced rates for early mailings.

A Russian newspaper says that work is so much fun over there that many workers just hate to think of becoming too old to keep their jobs. This seems odd since, as we understand it, they can always retire and take up some fascinating hobby, such as mining salt.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Why No Lighted Churches?

Why aren't the churches of the land brilliantly illuminated to glorify the Christmas spirit during Yuletide? With few exceptions the churches remain in complete darkness at a time when everybody is going all - out to illumine and beautify the season.

The church, cathedral and chapel, the places where the Christmas spirit has its very base, alone remain undecorated and bleak in a blaze of radiance in street, avenue and boulevard.

Business houses, amusement places and homes spare no effort or expense to glorify the Christmas season by decoration and color.

Why should churches go without a single lighted window as "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem" is heard around the world? What tells the story and sends forth the spirit of the Nativity more wonderfully than a stained glass window fully lighted?

Churchmen make curious arguments, a chief one of which is that the church must preserve its dignity and maintain aloofness to the spectacular.

A lighted stained glass window depicting the manger and the story of the Saints is not a "spectacle"; it is a thing of great beauty, lifting the human spirit.

An illuminated cross and a spotligated manger in a churchyard are not a sacrifice of dignity to most people. A child can be held more spellbound by a manger than by an advertising sign in the business section. And it's a different fascination.

This is an age when, perhaps unfortunately, showmanship in every phase of life is being employed as never before to get public attention, to promote a cause, to sell a product. Never have so many people been so greatly influenced by light and color and radiance, even in the most superficial forms.

Many of the agencies in modern life which hamper the church, injure religion and cut down church attendance are not missing a bet in gripping the public through Christmas illuminations. Does it make sense for the church to scorn such opposition, to leave it to these agencies — many of them evil — to fascinate children and grip the general public?

Is there anything that can cast a spell for good more than a chapel on a templed hill with every window blazing? Or a cathedral in a crowded city illuminated so that, as viewed from without, it fills the atmosphere with the Christmas message, making the illuminations of the marketplace seem cheap and shallow?

Suggestions that the churches light up nightly during the Christmas season have gone unheeded for decades. This will probably be true again this year. Why? We don't "dig" it.

MEN AT WORK

A little work, a cigarette,
A letter for appearance sake . . .
A racing chart, a little bet —
And then ANOTHER COFFEE BREAK!

Some of those street-corner Santas look as if they should be taken out to see a child and catch the spirit of Christmas.

The battle between Secretary Dulles and Joe McCarthy has now reached a stage where it may get the bid to the Rose Bowl.

Regardless of how small, it will cost 3 cents to mail a Christmas card this season, whether the envelope is sealed or unsealed. In the past, a card not exceeding four by two and three-quarters inches could be sent unsealed for 2 cents . . . This does away with the old - time Yuletide message:

This Christmas card to you is sent
To wish you well . . . AND SAVE ONE CENT!

Police, State Highway Patrol Report Five Automobile Accidents

One person was injured and a driver was arrested on a hit-skip driving charge in two of five traffic accidents in Marion city and county investigated during the last 24 hours by city police and the state highway patrol.

A Marion man, charged with hit-skip driving by city police, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today and was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Nick Hondros, 22, was arrested at 9:06 a.m. this morning at his residence at 190 Superior St. and charged with leaving the scene of an accident on Orchard St. near W. Columbia St. which occurred at 3:36 a.m. today.

Parked Car Hit

Police reported a car parked on Orchard St. and owned by Dr. E. H. Morgan of Hotel Harding was struck and considerably damaged by a car which failed to stop.

In their investigation of the damage to the parked car, police found an unsigned note which listed the license number of the hit-skip car. Further investigation revealed the license was issued to Mrs. Shopa Hondros at 190 Superior St., Nick Hondros' mother. Checking the car, police discovered it had been in an accident and after further investigation arrested Nick Hondros on the hit-skip charge.

Three remaining accidents on city streets were all minor with no injuries reported in any of them.

Autos Collide

Cars driven by Theodore A. Aldrich, 21, of 216 E. Mark St. and Lester E. Stanley, 63, of 181 E. Columbia St. were damaged in a collision at E. George and N State Sts. at 10:20 a.m. yesterday.

One person was injured in the only accident reported today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. The accident happened at 3:15 p.m. on Marion County Road 33, at the intersection of State Route 37.

A car driven by Robert H. Watson, 32, of Kenton, traveling east on the county road, skidded at the intersection, turning around and going into a culvert.

The entire rear end of the car was torn out, and the right and left rear sides of the body were badly damaged.

A passenger in the car, Curtis Hale, 36, of Kenton received a bump on the top of the head, but did not require treatment. Watson was cited to appear in Municipal Court Dec. 19 to answer a charge of unsafe operation.

Airline Adds Decorations

A "NEW LOOK" has been given to Lake Central Airlines' facilities in the Marion Municipal Airport administration building with installation of a new, modern design ticket counter.

A member of the art staff of Purdue University, Richard B. Rankin, began the task of designing and redecorating the company's ticket counters and other facilities last February and has worked on the project on a part-time basis since then.

The facilities at Marion airport were redecorated in a modern motif.

The basic design is representative of an airfoil suggestion motion. Similar forms are used in all stations throughout the airline's system. All the designs use the same colors, red and blue.

At Municipal Airport, two airfoil designs were placed on the wall behind the counter and corks were used to give texture and depth to the background. "Lake Central" lettering backed by wire mesh cut in the shape of an ellipse hangs above the counter.

Specializing in display and commercial art, Rankin has also helped the company re-design the stewardess' uniform and the interior of the aircraft used by the company, according to Lake Central officials. Rankin coordinated the colors and fabrics used in the interior carpeting, seat coverings, and bulkheads as well as the exterior identification of the DC-3 aircraft. With the exception of installation of window draperies, redecoration of the interior of all company planes is now completed, company officials said.

Dry Weather Causes Decline In Production of Milk in County

Extremely dry weather and poor pasture conditions have greatly reduced milk production in Marion County this fall, Ellwood Parrott of the Agricultural Extension Service reported today.

Production dropped late in the summer, and most dairymen report they have been unable to raise the level, even with silage and increased grain feeding.

Although production over the entire country has dropped in the same manner as here, experts still look for a total 1953 milk production of 118 billion pounds, Parrott said. Consumption for the year is expected to reach 115 billion pounds leaving an excess of three billion pounds of milk at the beginning of 1954.

More Dairy Cows

Numbers of cows on American farms increased by 500,000 this year, and the number is expected to inrease again in 1954. Total production of milk next year is predicted at the same level or slightly above the 118 billion pounds produced this year.

Parrott said labor and other costs should remain high, but feed costs will probably drop somewhat during the year. The outlook for the 1954 dairy farmer is for a lower net income than in 1953. Management efficiency will be required if the farmer is to realize a profit.

29 Herds in Test

During the month of November, 29 Marion County herds were tested under the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and Official testing methods. There were 569 cows in the 29 herds. Of those, 198 produced 40 pounds or more butterfat each. Aveage production of all 569 cows was 901 pound sof milk and 34.45 pounds of butterfat for the month.

Twenty herds were tested under the Owner-Sampler plan. Cows in those herds numbered 327, with 88 producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat for the month. Average production of the 327 was 733 pounds of milk, and 28.5 pounds of butterfat.

Test Results

Following is the list of owners, size of the herd, average amount of milk produced, average amount of butterfat produced, and number of cows producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat under Dairy Herd Improvement Association and Official tests:

W. R. and H. J. Brooks, 27 cows, 1,305 lbs. milk, 48.3 lbs. butterfat, 14 cows producing 40 lbs. butterfat; Harold Seiter and Francis Fairchild, 23 cows, 1,249 lbs. milk, 44.9 lbs. butterfat, 12 cows producing 40 lbs. butterfat; Paul Lawrence and Sons, 33 cows, 1,143 lbs. milk, 43.1 lbs. butterfat, 18 cows producing 40 lbs. butterfat; Joe Miller and Fred Jones, 27 cows, 1,147 lbs. milk, 42.5 lbs. butterfat, 9 cows producing 40 lbs. butterfat; William Earl, 21 cows, 1,090 milk, 42 lbs. butterfat, 8 cows producing 40 pounds butterfat; Marlow Zachman, 25 cows, 1,092 lbs. milk, 40.5 lbs. butterfat. 9 cows producing 40 lbs. butterfat; Edwin R. Killings tendants said they doubted the youngsters "would make it."

Wilsac said Holt had beaten the children's heads with a 3-inch crowbar and then stomped on them.

In another room of the hospital where two of her children were clinging to life was Holt's wife Beatrice, 32. She was recovering from the shock of returning to her home after a few minutes at a neighbor's and finding three of the children lying on the dining room floor and the other two in the kitchen.

Holt, dark-haired and of small, wiry build, told McCann he tricked his wife into leaving their house by telling her he wanted to go to a church service last night. The prosecutor said Holt told him he sent her to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Sophie Baker, about 200 yards away, to ask the Bakers for an automobile ride to church. She said she was gone only four minutes.

McCann said Holt told him he did not belong to any church and during questioning trailed off into discussions of God and the devil. McCann described him as "fantastically religious."

Asked if he intended to kill his wife too, Holt told McCann:

"No, God did not tell me to." Dr. John P. Smarrella, coroner, said he appeared to be "a mental case."

McCann said Holt still thinks today he killed all five of the children and "shows absolutely no remorse."

"He's definitely a mental case," McCann said.

Until three months ago, Holt had worked in a nearby coal mine.

For two weeks to Monday of this week, he had been at the veterans hospital in Aspinwall, Pa., where authorities said he was treated for investigation of a chronic heart disease."

A hospital spokesman said there was no suspicion of mental illness during his stay there, and that their records on the World War II Air Force veteran "showed no history of any psychiatric treatment."

Tri-Hi-Y Club At Edison Gets New Members

Formal induction of 64 new members of the Edison Junior High School Tri-Hi-Y Club was held recently in the school auditorium, followed by a Christmas program. Nearly 300 members of the club and their parents and guests attended.

The ceremonies opened with a trumpet solo, "Follow the Gleam," by Judy Kunkle, followed by procession from the corridor into the auditorium with the marchers singing the hymn. They were escorted by two representatives from the Edison Hi-Y Club, Phillip Syckes and Greg Hochstetter.

Officers, cabinet members, and musicians formed the traditional symbol of the triangle on the platform while the new members were seated in the front center section with the old members on either side. Sally Faust, the president, opened the meeting by lighting the candle which represents the "Light of Truth as taught in the Bible." Devotions were by Alice Spurlock, and Thena Utley, accompanied by Judy Dotson, sang "Beautiful Savior."

Cabinet members explained the history of the organization and the meaning, the code, the purpose, and the symbolism of Tri-Hi-Y. Each new member stated her personal purpose in joining the club as she was presented a large certificate of membership, her affiliation card, and a program booklet of the year's activities. The group pledged allegience to the club by singing "I Would Be True." Closing the program was singing of "The Lord's Prayer" by a sextet while the audience joined in forming a chain of friendship rows by clasping hands. The six singers included Linda Price, Thena Utley, Linda Thurston, Sharon Smith, Charlotte Huddle, and Janis Massie.

Christmas carols presented by Judy Dotson and Mrs Robert Waldbauer and Mrs. George Lane preceded the social hour. Guests were served in the lunchroom from a table arranged in triangle shape and ornamented with Christmas decorations. Members of the Women's Tri-Hi-Y Council, Mrs. Richard Plantz, Mrs. Joseph Scandling, and Mrs. Vernon Street, assisted in the dining room. The club advisors are Mrs. H. W Jacobs, Mrs. M. A. Hendel, and Miss Betty Houser.

New Parent Learns Truth

Rumors Spread About Babies Untrue

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people have been spreading ugly rumors about babies.

They say babies are little animals that make you get up at 2 a.m., to feed them. They say babies often get cross for no reason and cry merely for exercise. They say babies get spoiled quicker than any other known protein.

It is a good thing babies don't know the adult half-truths and plain perjuries that are told about them, or they might all get colic.

Some four months ago a young lady named Tracy Ann, who will be half a yar old on Christmas Eve, came into our home and adopted my wife and me after a brief trial. The first thing I learned about her was that all I had ever heard before about babies was absolutely wrong.

This isn't mere parental pride. It is pure fact. You simply have to have a baby around to realize how much more common sense one has than the average grownup.

A grownup will weep, rail at the world, indulge in excesses, or feel sorry for himself for almost any reason, and often for no real reason at all. He needs no excuse to become intemperate or to indulge in self-pity, the most widespread of human vices.

But a baby is born temperate and reasonable. I have a theory that no baby makes a fool of itself until some grownup sets it a bad example.

Tracy Ann, for example, has already worked out a simple four-rule formula of life that has kept her healthy and happy, and might profitably be followed by many an adult. These are her rules for successful living:

1. Eat three balanced meals a day with no snacks in between, and be sure to get rid of burps promptly.

2. Sleep when you're sleepy.

3. Keep your diaper dry, or arrange to have it changed promptly if it isn't.

4. Avoid loud noises. They are hard on the nervous system.

In the four months since Tracy Ann adopted us there has been no such thing as a 2 a.m. feeding. She has cried a total of exactly four times—once when a burp got lost in her and we had a hard time getting it out, once when we kept her up too late, once when we failed to recognize her diaper emergency alarm signal, and once when a playful visitor bellowed imitation babytalk in her startled face.

The important thing was she never shed a tear except when one of the rules that keep her happy was broken. And she never breaks the rules herself.

"Wait until she gets bored and you have to entertain her," friends say. But so far Tracy Ann doesn't need to be entertained, and I suspect few happy babies do. They entertain you.

Tracy Ann recently discovered her toes, a meeting that can be compared historically only with that between Stanley and Dr. Livingston.

She also has her music lessons to keep her occupied. I certainly don't intend to brag on her, but do you know any other baby who can play Beethoven's Fifth Symphony with her feet?

Her musical instrument is her first toy, a rubber cat with a whistle in it. She likes to thump it with her feet and play the famous first four notes of the Beethoven symphony — "Boom - ti -ti - boom! Boom-ti-ti-boom!" I doubt if the cat will hold up until she learns the rest of the score. Its whistle is getting a bit hoarse.

Tracy Ann is also doing well in mathematics I let her play with my high school algebra book, and the minute I turned my back she was trying to absorb the table of contents and the first four problems.

That is the way with babies. They have an insatiable curiosity and self-confidence. They are sure they could digest the universe itself —if they could just get it in their mouth.

I suppose that is why some adults go around spreading those ugly rumors about babies. They are just downright envious of the infant wonder and eagerness to theyare nowblin dto,av isionof know everything about the world that they themselves have somehow lost somewhere back along the trail of time—a rainbow beauty they are now blind to, a vision of the heart they yearn to find again if they but knew how.

Wrap Parcels Securely

Compliance With Rules Speeds Postal Delivery

Postmaster Homer D. Cole today warned Marion residents to heed postal regulations when sending Christmas presents by fourth-class parcel post mail.

Violation of these regulations may result in a delay in the delivery of a package or may subject it to the higher first-class rates, he said.

In some cases, first-class rates for a package may run more than 10 times higher than parcel post rates for the same item.

PARCELS MUST be wrapped and tied securely but not sealed unless endorsed with the statement "Contents merchandise, may be opened for postal inspection if necessary."

Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," this being allowed to encourage early mailing. Written greetings such as "Merry Christmas" and names, numbers and symbols for the purpose of description may be enclosed with parcel post mail. Books sent through parcel post may carry only simple dedicatory inscriptions. Any other written additions subject the entire parcel to first-class rates.

The entire package is also subject to letter rates if a letter is enclosed. A letter prepaid at first class rates may be sent with articles prepaid at parcel post rates by attaching the envelope containing the letter to the outside of the package.

To expedite delivery mailers may use special delivery or air parcel post.

Mailers may also use the special handling service for parcel post items. This service, as its name implies, is designed for packages which need special handling. It insures such handling for packages marked "This side up," "Fragile," "Perishable," etc.

COLE ADDED the warning that Christmas gifts should be registered or insured when sent through parcel post.

He also stressed that early mailing is an important factor in insuring that packages are delivered by Christmas Day.

Parcels intended for out-of-town delivery should be in the mail no later than Dec. 15. Local parcels should be mailed by Dec. 20.

In concluding, Cole emphasized the importance of addressing packages completely and clearly.

"While I strongly favor tax reduction and believe that the people are entitled to a larger reduction than that now scheduled, I do not believe that such a tax cut should be achieved at the expense of a sound social security system."

Reed's statement, generally fitting a pattern of recent pronouncements by GOP leaders, may have been designed to counter charges by several House Democrats that some Republicans are trying to "smash" the social security program.

mittee has wanted to honor," Hambro declared.

Hambro recalled Marshall's fight for European recovery, from his first proposal of the aid plan in an address at Harvard University June 5, 947, until Congress' adoption of the program.

Proved Constructive

Time, he continued, has proved "the constructive character of the plan." He added:

"And the organs which have grown from Marshall aid, more than anything else in these difficult years, have been a contribution to what Nobel termed the 'idea of general peace in Europe' and the realistic materialization of the idea Nobel in his testament called brotherhood among nations."

Tonight the prize committee was to honor the American general at its traditional dinner and tomorrow he will deliver the Nobel lecture on a subject of his own choice.

The Alsatian-born Dr. Schweitzer, 78, had cabled that his missionary-medical work at Lambarene, French Equatorial Africa, prevented his attending the presentation ceremony. His cash award, due to fluctuations in the Nobel fund's earnings, came to about $33,200.

Jahn delivered the eulogy for the 1952 peace winner, whose 40 years of work with African natives have been companioned by continuous study and writings in Christian philosophy and theology.

"By his acts he has given life to the idea of brotherhood, and his words have been accepted and have taken root in the minds of many," Jahn said.

Baby Tornado Hits Chillicothe

$100,000 Loss Caused By Freak Wind Storm

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—A wind storm, described by witnesses as a "baby tornado," whistled through a west side residential section of this southern Ohio city ripping off roofs, uprooting trees, levelling garages and tearing down powerlines last night.

It spent less than a minute here but it left in its wake an unofficially-estimated $100,000 damage and a breathless citizenry. No one was hurt.

The freak wind storm, accompanied by what one man called "a heck of a load of rain," cut down an alley, about a half-block long. It twisted cars, bulged out the side of one house, levelled a concrete block garage, smashed plate glass windows, knocked out electrical service and put radio station WBEX off the air for three minutes.

Witnesses reported trees hanging against front porches—and some porches even blown away. They said fences and telephone lines were down, plate glass windows were smashed and the roof of a service station had gone with the wind.

member nations but has repeatedly run into a Russian veto.

In a later English - language broadcast beamed to North America, another Moscow radio commentator, Konstantine Orlov, said the striking thing about Eisenhower's speech was "the utter lack of concrete proposals on how to make those general desires and wishes' for peace into reality.

"Yet even Edgar Bergen's Mortimer Snerd ought to know," Orlov continued, "that the banning of atomic and hydrogen bombs is a cardinal point about the whole atomic problem which Eisenhower spoke of."

Moscow's Communist party newspaper Pravda also raised the same point after an 800-word summary of the main points of the President's speech.

At the end of its summary, Pravda commented only: "However, the President in his speech did not express his attitude toward the question of outlawing atomic weapons."

Hostess Gives Advice

Successful Party Needs Food, Congenial People

AP Newsfeatures

ATLANTA—Invite lots of guests, give them room to roam and feed them well.

That's the recipe for successful entertaining outlined by one of Atlanta's most popular hostesses, Mrs. Murdock Equen.

Like most Atlantans, Mrs. Equen does her entertaining at home. Though the city boasts a fair number of clubs, residents pride themselves on their beautiful homes and their own southern style of hospitality

—:—

MRS. EQUEN likes to give large outdoor parties, pointing out that Atlanta's "fantastically" good climate permits outdoor entertaining for all but three or four months of the year.

This experienced hostess frequently sets up a bar on the terrace or punchbowls on the lawn so that a party can overflow outdoors. She says that while she normally would have to invite a maximum of 50 to 75 guests to a strictly indoor party she can invite many more in this way.

AS IN MOST of the country, small buffet dinners or luncheons are the backbone of the Atlanta social circle. "Small" to Mrs. Equen means 18 or 20 persons. With her cook and maid of long standing she can cope with this number easily.

There's always a touch of Dixie in the food, for Mrs. Equen says: "I don't serve exotic food. We try to have something Southern like chicken, fried or barbecued, drop biscuits, batter or spoon bread, on every menu."

"SOMETIMES Graham Jackson, the Negro singer-pianist-accordionist, who frequently entertained President Roosevelt, provides music.

Like so many Atlantans, the Equens often entertain at breakfasts before the Georgia Tech football games. A typical menu would be sausages and scrambled eggs, hominy grits, fried apples, biscuits, coffee nad champagne.

Mrs. Equen, the wife of a prominent Atlanta doctor, also is active in civic affairs and this year is president of the Atlanta League of Women Voters.

But all this doesn't cut down on her entertaining because she has "lots of energy' and plans her big parties "like a drive."

NOW AND THEN when she's faced with a huge guest list (2,000 on at least four occasions, when her two daughters made their debuts and were married) the parties are held at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Then it's mostly a question of making up a list of people to be invited, outlining the orchestra, food and drink reqirements and sitting back to let the club take over.

By and large, Mrs Equen echoes women around the world when she sums up the two major requirements of successful party giving: good food and congenial people.

Providing CARE Packages Adopted As Project of Club

Contributions to provide special CARE packages for victims of tuberculosis in Korea make up a part of the Marion Altrusa Club's Christmas work this year.

Funds contributed at the club's annual Christmas party Tuesday evening at Hotel Harding netted $55.50 which will be used to purchase Golden Rule Anti-TB packages at a cost $7.50 each. Members not present will be contacted and it is expected the fund will be increased, Miss Vivian Garster stated. She is chairman of the International Relations Committee, which is in charge of the project. Capsules of vitamin B complex, facial tissues, toilet soap, toothpaste and brush, whole milk powder are among the articles included in each package.

The members met for dinner and later there was a program and gift exchange. Miniature showmen, and candle figurenes decorating the tables which were paneled with pine branches throughout which were intertwined strands of colored lights. Places were marked with popcorn balls in green and red transparent wrappings and during the evening each member made a colorful Christmas corsage. A lighted tree in one end of the ballroom completed the decorations.

For the program there was a Christmas story in colored slides interspersed with carols sung by the group. The program was presented by Miss Ruth Turner with Miss Edith Brown as narrator, Miss Jean Bibbe, soloist and Miss Grace Cooper, pianist.

Arrangements were in charge of Miss Irene Reynolds, social chairman, Mrs. Ruth Langley, Miss Edna Rhodes and Miss Mary Ellen Kerr, members of the committee.

Three Coshocton Men Accused of Desertion

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today the arrest of three Coshocton men, accused of being deserters.

Harvey G. Foster, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, identified the three as Donald J. Elson, 21; Russell F. Guthrie Jr., 23, and Russell Elton Madison Jr., 19. Elson and Guthrie were listed as having been missing from Fort Knox, Ky.; since August while Madison, a sailor, was reported missing from his ship Sept. 7.

Foster said Elson and Guthrie were arrested at the home of Elson's parents in Coshocton and Madison was taken into custody at his home.

A Marion student will take part in a student chamber music recital to be given at Oberlin College Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, in Warner Concert Hall.

She is Miss Wilma Goebel, who will play violin in the Beethoven String Quartet in G Major and in the Woods quintet. The program includes music by Beethoven, Brahms, and Joseph Wood, instructor in theory at Oberlin, by two string quartets and a quintet. Miss Goebel is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. Paul Goebel of 322 S. Prospect St.

Mexican Police Crack Counterfeiting Racket

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican police say they have arrested a Colombian and two Costa Ricans who have been trying to boom counterfeiting as a home industry.

The police said the three men were part of an international ring of racketeers operating for the past five years in South America, the United States and Mexico.

Among their rackets, officials said, was the sale of a "magic" machine supposed to turn out counterfeit Mexican money.

Sugar Test

By George Sokolsky

Those who like to frighten people are telling us not to smoke lest we get cancer; not to drink lest we become alcoholics; not to eat tasty things lest we become diabetics. Soon we shall be living on nothing but stuff we buy in the drug store. The scarers have discovered a million allergies and enough lacks of vitamins, hormones and chemicals in each of us to make us shaky, wobbly and maladjusted. I often wonder how my grandfather managed to live to a grand old age without these fears and with no knowledge of vitamins.

SOKOLSKY

However, I do know that sugar is poison for me because I have too much ot it.

I NEED NEVER go to a doctor to discover the consequences of my sins; they find me out and plague me until I have burned up the surplus sugar.

I have been told that insulin would help me burn it up, but I dislike stabbing myself with a needle each morning and I know that if I could withstand the lure of cakes, pies and French pastries, I should be all right.

I love to cheat my doctor, dieting rigidly in advance of an examination and always managing to show him a better side of me Fortunately, I do not see him often.

Now I have discovered that there is another side to the story; that many suffer from too much insulin.

Actually, I read a book on the subject — as much as I dislike such reading, devoting myself to more optimistic subjects which show that not I but the whole world is swiftly going to the devil.

ANY BOOK on economics or the history of the past 20 years will help one to reach that conclusion.

The book on sugar is "Body, Mind and Sugar," by Dr. E. M Abrahamson and A. W. Pezet, which attracted me because I am so full of sugar while some of the less optimistic among my friends seem to have nothing in their souls but bile.

I was seeking a key to an understanding of their sour natures. A sugary optimist, I am sure that the worst has not yet happened and maybe never will.

This book turned out to be a very learned treatise, popularly written, on the subject of hyperinsulinism from which many suffer without knowing it.

THIS ILLNESS comes from a generous pancreas providing too much insulin and it can lead to chronic fatigue, alcoholism, neurosis, allergies, suicide and even murder. That is what can happen to a fellow who has too much of what I have too little.

You might read this book and discover whether you are likely to commit murder one day; or you might take a glucose tolerance test to discover whether next March 15 you will be able to curb the inclination for suicide.

I first learned about this trouble from a couple of dentists who discovered that even small children who have pyorrhea also show signs of a low blood sugar.

ONE OF THESE dentists, when he treats a patient, goes through tests and questions like those for a major operation and then, instead of pulling your teeth, sends you to a doctor to put you on a diet to improve your blood.

As preventive medicine makes more sense than yanking out your uppers and lowers, I agreed to read the aforesaid book, which starts off with the confession that Dr. Abrahamson nearly helped to kill a patient because he was treating him for the obvious when what he should have discovered was the hidden.

The hidden enemy was hyperinsulinism — too much insulin, too generous a working of the Islands of Langerhans, if you know what I mean.

WE ARE BLESSED, in these days of great political and economic confusion, that in little laboratories great minds are at work, at low pay, in comparative obscurity, saving our lives.

Such a man apparently is Dr. Seale Harris, professor of medicine at the University of Alabama, who did important work in hyperinsulinism and to whom Dr. Abrahamson turned for the advice which saved his patient.

It takes great courage for any man, particularly a doctor, to admit error and then to write a book about it. When it happens, a life might be saved.

Applied more broadly to politics, a nation could be saved.

(King Features Syndicate)

Reverberations

By Victor Riesel

This is part two of a saga which began when the president of the Plumbers Union called the President of the U.S. a liar.

RIESEL

The story started in an uproar. It will end in an uproar — on the nation's picket lines and at thousands of anti-Eisenhower demonstrations. I believe 1954 will be a year of bitter showdown battles between the nation's top labor and management leaders — such as we already have seen in the paralyzing New York City newspaper strike.

For it is now obvious to those who know what policy decisions are being made, in President Eisenhower's own office and on a Cabinet level, that there will be no changes in our basic national labor law.

THERE WILL, however, be tougher and tougher state labor legislation.

Apparently, both the liberal and conservative presidential advisers have successfully urged Gen Eisenhower to forget the now famous 19 points over which ex - Labor Secretary Martin Durkin quit the Cabinet last summer. Here's what will happen:

President Eisenhower, according to current plans, will refer casually to labor and the Taft - Hartley law in his State of the Union message, now being prepared.

If there is no outcry over this Taft - Hartley brushoff, the President will not send a special message on labor to Congress, as he, the late Sen. Taft, Martin Durkin and all the rest had contemplated.

It should be said here that, ironically enough, only Sen. Taft could have won a softened labor law for the union chiefs who fought him so bitterly in years so-swiftly gone by.

There is no other congressional leader today on whom President Eisenhower can depend to push through controversial labor compromises.

If it is decided that President Eisenhower should dispatch a special message to Congress later, it will be prepared by Labor Secretary James Mitchell — and not by the group around presidential administrative assistant Bernard Shanley which was in the midst of the 19 - point controversy this summer.

Secretary Mitchell is setting labor policy. President Eisenhower is listening to him. That's definite.

However, whatever suggestions the President sends to Congress, they must first be considered by a sub - committee of the Senate Labor Committee as well as the House Labor Committee.

THAT MAY NOT happen for many months. Irving Ives (R-NY) is head of the Senate sub-committee on labor legislation. At the moment he has developed an absorbing interest in Fair Employment Practices legislation and new laws against discrimination in schools, hospitals, etc.

Sen. Ives has let it be known that his group will hold hearings on this subject before they go into any proposed changes on Taft-Hartley. At this, of course, the labor leaders can only growl "touche"

Score one for Ives. His interest in fair play is sincere. How can the nation's labor leaders scream against FEPC hearings? They cant. Nevertheless, these hearings can stall until summertime subcommittee discussions on Taft-Hartley changes.

THAT BRINGS the whole matter right into the political campaign for Congress — when everybody wants to go home and get the voters into the booths — and on the right line, of course.

Meanwhile, there is developing an outcry from many industrial associations, especially those in Detroit, for a toughening, not a softening of the nation's most cussed-at labor law. Nobody's happy over it.

The union chiefs want it wiped out, or at least eased. Management, seeing such strikes as the New York newspaper stoppage, the walkout of 33,000 steelworkers (which, in turn, affects the production of milk containers) and the jet plane picket lines, want the law tightened.

FURTHRMORE, there is a rift inside the Republican party. At the National Association of Manufacturers sessions the other day, there was considerable criticism of "the New York liberals" meaning Gov. Dewey's group, some of whom favor easing the Taft-Hartley law.

So the men around Ike feel that it would be committing political mayhem to throw the GOP and the White House into the midst of a fight on one side of which are leaders of 16,000,000 unionists and on the other tens of thousands of businessmen.

It would also split the party in an election year.

So the decision is to do nothing. And labor will hit the picket line to get what it can and make it all a political issue. That's the end of part two.

Part three ends election night, 1954, after we count the votes for a new Congress.

Overworked Words

By Laura Hobson

"It is a great distinction and I am greatly honored."

These were the words with which General of the Army George C. Marshall accepted the news earlier this fall that he had been awarded one of the greatest honors on earth, the Nobel Peace Prize, which is being awarded in Stockholm today.

HOBSON

Reading them I found them strangely familiar and began to wonder why that should be so.

Suddenly I realized that words just like them, or so closely similar that memory refuses to yield up the difference, are used a thousand times a year by recipients of a thousand awards and "honors" for assorted achievements, many of which can only be assessed as pipsqueak.

WHEN A GIRL in a bathing suit wins out over 95 other girls in 95 other bathing suits for Miss Golden Tan of 1953, like as not she solemnly says to the reporters and the microphones, "It is a great distinction and I am greatly honored."

When a hot motor-bike racer gets a prize for the most daring dash from Oskhosh, Wis., to Grey Bull, Mont., the chances are he'll uncake the mud from his face and intone, "It is a great distinction and I am greatly honored."

If a speed typist gets the national prize for doing 199 words a minute instead of 198, or if an author rises to lecture a local garden club, each is pretty apt to declare—

YOU'RE WAY AHEAD of me, so I'll merely ask if you yourself haven't at times been made a touch uncomfortable when winners of this or that strike a pose and utter solemn phrases that show they're really "taking it big"?

With this in mind, just keep an eye peeled and an ear cocked at the newsreels and TV screens the next week or so and see how many times somebody does inflate like a balloon and make with the pear-shaped tones.

The lively desire to win is native to us all, and a good round thump of pleasure at coming in first in natural and human too. At such times, phony humility and self-belittling would be the other extreme, and nobody is suggesting that as the alternative.

BUT IT STRIKES me that lots of us could learn a lesson in proportion and taste from that great soldier-statesman in his seventies, the "Father of the Marshall Plan," whose name is honored in all non-slave countries of the world for the idea that handed such a setback to the wildfire spread of Communism all over Europe right after the war.

After his unrehearsed first response to the news of the Nobel Prize, Gen. Marshall later that day had a second chance to "take it big." Instead he merely went in for a little amplification. "I cannot find words," he said, in his home at Pinehurst, N.C., "to express my thanks . . . while I have not received official notification, I asume from press dispatches that the award is a fact."

To me there's something noble in the quiet ring of those phrases, and I expect to hear a secret echo of them the next time I watch a fellow or girl accept some pleasant little laurel wreath as if it were nothing less than a giant sequoia or redwood from northern California or southern Oregon.

And if either of them starts the "It's a great distinction" routine, I'm sure going to want to yell "Timber" and get out of there pronto.

Delinquent Duck Hailed Into Court

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Higginbottom, the delinquent duck, waddled out of Corporation Court yesterday under injunction to stay out of the neighbor's flowers.

The complaining neighbor, Mrs. Ethel J. Cope, testified the duck had made various excursions into her garden to nip at the pansies and gobble asparagus tips.

In court also were the duck owners, Tommy Pisillo, 7, and Linda Pisillo, 8; and their grandmother, Mrs. Nelle Connelley. Mrs. Connelley blamed the duck's wandering on Mrs. Cope's cats. She said the duck was actually chasing the cats and only stopped incidentally to nibble asparagus.

Judge Frank O'Brien ruled, with Mrs. Cope's agreement, that everything would be all right if Mrs. Higginbottom stayed in her own yard.

Stock and Bond Sale Requested By Ohio Edison

AKRON — Ohio Edison Co. today filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington for authority to issue and sell 527,830 shares of common stock and $30,000,000 principal amount of 30-year first mortgage bonds. An application for approval of the sale of the security issues has also been filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The common stock would be offered to Edison's common stockholders of record at the close of business on Jan. 14, 1954 and would give them the right to subscribe for additional shares of common stock on the basis of one additional share for each 10 shares held. Stockholders would also have the privilege of subscribing, subject to allotment, at the same subscription price for shares of common stock not subscribed for through the exercise of rights.

The company will set the price per share at which the stock will be offered to common stockholders on or about Jan. 11, 1954.

The $30,000,000 bond issue will be sold at competitive bidding in accordance with the rule of the SEC, bids to be received on or about Jan. 19, 1954.

Ohio Edison proposes to use the net proceeds from the proposed sale of stock and bonds for cash requirements for property additions.

The company expects to expend approximately $54,900,000 for construction purposes in 1954, divided as follows: an estimated $27,400,000 on steam-electric generating stations; $11,100,000 on electric transmission line and substation additions and improvements; $14,200,000 on electric distribution line and substation additions and improvements; $2,200,000 on steam heating, general purposes and other property additions.

Administration Making Sure Public Knows It's Weeding Out Loyalty Risks

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The Eisenhower administration is going to unusual lengths to convince the American people it is making good on its promise to purge security risks from the government payroll —a tremendous and difficult task, GOP officials say, because of laxity in this regard by the Democrats when they were in power.

A press-release schedule for federal agencies has been set up quietly under White House-Civil Service Commission direction in which the numbers of security risks each unit has eliminated in the first four months of the President's new program will be announced at regular intervals.

The public thus will be reminded over and over of the fact that undesirables are being systematically dropped from government employ.

BACK ON OCT. 23, the White House announced that a total of 1,456 employes had been dropped as security risks or had resigned when confronted with charges. It gave no breakdown by agency.

The point was made at that time, and no doubt it will be repeated, that all but 5 of the 1,456 security risks were Truman administration holdovers. The five, it was said, were working in a purely temporary status, pending completion of background investigations.

What may hurt the Democrats more, however, is that under the Eisenhower program, as set forth in Executive Order 10450, no numerical breakdown within the definition of "security risk" is made public. Drunkards, sex deviates, disloyal persons, drug addicts, criminals, anarchists and several other categories are considered to be security risks. To the average person, the term security risk is associated inextricably with that of disloyalty.

NEITHER THE White House nor the Civil Service commission would reveal how many agencies' figures were represented in the 1,456 total. But if one took only the 15 largest departments and offices and used a five-day interval—the time between the original White House announcement and the Post Office department's release of Oct. 28, or between the latter and the Nov. 2 release date previously assigned to the Navy—these security reports to the nation could be carried on for nearly three months.

But that's not all, necessarily. Soon it would be time for the whole process—a White House round-up report followed by individual agency releases—to begin again. James Hagerty, press secretary to the President, has said that the White House would make such reports at least once every six months, and that the 1,456 cases represented only about 25 per cent of those being reviewed.

IT IS OBVIOUS, therefore, if the Republicans wished to do so, they could keep up regular reports of security-risk firings of Truman administration holdovers right up to the congressional elections next November.

Civil Service commission and White House press officers would not concede that a press-release schedule has been set up for the agencies. A commission information specialist told this writer that he personally knew of no such schedule, but would find out. He called back to say he had been told to refer such inquiries to the White House.

Murray Snyder, White House press assistant, was cautious.

"Who told you there was a schedule?" he asked. "I haven't heard of any formal schedule."

He did not deny flatly that there was one.

IT WAS THEN LEARNED that not only is there a schedule, but each reporting agency has been instructed to clear its announcement with the CSC. This arrangement averted an extremely embarassing situation—as follows:

The Navy was advised by the commission that its release date was Nov. 2. After the release was prepared it was submitted to the CSC, where Commissioner Philip Young was to approve it. The Navy story said that eight civilian employes had been fired as security risks and that 12 others had been suspended, pending investigations, in the previously mentioned four-month period.

When the commission received the Navy release, one can only guess at the reaction it provoked. The CSC, which coordinates agency security-risk reports, had used a Navy figure of 192 in the government-wide total of 1,456. It had got the 192 by adding up reports from Washington and from its field offices, which, in turn, received their information from Navy field offices.

THE COMMISSION pointed out the tremendous discrepancy and asked Navy security officials here to re-examine the situation. The Navy men were taken aback. They had had no detailed knowledge of the field reports, but found it difficult to believe there had been 192 security risks separated from the Navy payroll.

This skepticism, perhaps, was born of the fact that the Navy has been one of the most alert and aggressive agencies in carrying out federal employe security programs. For approximately three years, the Navy has been reviewing closely all its old loyalty-security cases where the individual involved was still employed. When a particular review was completed, appropriate action was immediately taken.

The Navy, therefore, long has been operating in the spirit of the new Eisenhower program, which, since May 27 last, has required all agencies to make full field investigations of employes who had undergone such scrutiny during the Truman administration.

MAYOR CHOSEN BY COIN

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Harry E. Foehr will become mayor of Portsmouth Jan. 1. The 48-year-old restaurant owner was "elected" by the toss of a coin yesterday. The new all-Republican City Council cast equal votes for Foehr and Robert P. Walker, Walker, a shoe factory executive, was named vice mayor.

Company Claims Whisky Too Risky

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Whisky is just too risky, the Tristate Insurance Co. contended yesterday before District Judge Albert C. Hunt.

The company wanted the court to set aside a ruling instructing the firm to sell insurance to David L. Veatch, admitted bootlegger.

On his application for insurance Veatch stated he was a tavern owner and operated a retail liquor sales outfit—in bone dry Oklahome.

The governing committee of the Oklahoma Motor Vehicle Assigned Risk Plan had found Veatch eligible for insurance and instructed the commissioner to order the company to write a policy.

Appealing to the court, the company said the decision would force the writing of a policy "which is clearly unenforceable as completely repugnant to public policy."

County Unit Hears Talk by Expert on Retarded Children

The Marion County Council of Parents and Friends for Retarded Children met Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the activities room of the Marion County Children's Home.

Guest speaker was Howell McCune of Mansfield, teacher of the Richland County mentally retarded class.

He told of his experiences as teacher of such a class for the last two years. He said Ohio is leading all other states in the work for retarded children. He also noted that he has attended the state and national conventions for retarded children organizations and reported that all delegates to the national convention expressed a desire to do all possible for retarded children.

The Richland County class is having open house for all parents and friends, McCune said. His talk was climaxed with a book review of Dale Evans' book "Angel Unaware." This is the story of her retarded child who died when two years old.

Council President Mrs. Rachel DeSimone announced that the Marion County Junior Service Guild has joined the Council with a sustaining membership.

She also reported the Council received 100 sheets of "retarded children in seals" which were sold throughout Marion County. This is to be an annual project of the Council which will be held around Thanksgiving time each year, Mrs. DeSimone said.

Mrs. Charlotte Lister, teacher of the Marion County class, announced that a Christmas party for parents of children in the class will be held Dec. 18 at 1 p.m. in the class room at the Children's Home.

U.S. 'Hostess With the Mostest' Returns

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Perle Mesta, onetime minister to Luxembourg and recently a tourist to the Soviet Union, is back home to defend her title as "hostess with the mostest."

At a news conference yesterday, Mrs. Mesta said her immediate plans include asking today for an appointment with Secretary of State Dulles to tell him some things she didn't put in the stories she wrote on her Russian experiences—things she says "I can't talk about."

A reporter asked:

Had Mrs. Mesta seen anything on her Russian visit that might make her think the Russians would be willing to cooperate in pooling atomic power efforts, as sugested by President Eisenhower?

"I saw nothing in Russia," Mrs. Mesta replied firmly, "that would make me think they wanted to cooperate with us. But that was a month ago."

As to her future, Mrs. Mesta said:

1. She is going to give a party "just as soon as I find a house."

2. She is beginning a new chapter in her life—writing and lecturing.

Writing a book? "Several publishers are interested." And the lectures? "Never gave a lecture in my life," but she is signed up for 10. The first will be in Houston Jan. 16.

"What will I lecture about? All kinds of things I'll talk about Washington, Luxembourg, London, Russia."

Her recent articles on Rusia were published in this country and in about 18 other countries.

"All the money I make on those, on my lectures and on the book are going into a scholarship fund," she said.

The fund, she said, will underwrite expenses — "all expenses, even toothpaste"—of some foreign students, brought to this country.

"Every country in which a newspaper buys my articles will get to send a student," she said.

Does she plan to run for political office?

"Definitely not—but then I always do the things I say I won't."

Philadelphia Bachelor Club Is Well Received

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—J. Sylvester Covell, middle-aged head of an engineering corporation, says he never expected such enthusiastic reaction when he formed his Bachelors' Club to provide a meeting place for lonely folks of both sexes.

Just the other day, he says, a man telephoned to say "he thought it sounded so interesting he was thinking of getting a divorce."

Eisenhower Speech Does It

West Finally Has Soviets on Defensive

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here at the tail end of 1953 the West grabbed and ran with the psychological flag which the Russians had seized early in the year and then dropped.

The West threw Moscow on the defensive twice within 24 hours with its two invitations: to a foreign ministers' meeting Jan. 4 in Berlin, and to private talks on pooling atomic materials for peace.

Russian refusal to attend the Berlin meeting would be pretty plain admission it was unwilling to take even that small step toward a chance for peace, even though no one expects much of the meeting.

Russia will look bad, too, if it says "no" to President Eisenhower's proposal that the atomic powers sit down and talk of pooling some of their atomic materials.

When the Eisenhower administration took over last January this country had been at war with the Communists for more than 2½ years in Korea. The mood against Russia was tough.

The new administration expressed no softness. Neither did Stalin, sitting halfway around the world, still stolid, stubborn, apparently still willing to keep pushing, even if it meant fighting, as it did in Korea.

Stalin died in March. His successor, Malenkov, switched tactics at once. He talked peace. He had much to gain, nothing to lose by the switch.

If this country didn't take his bait and start yielding ground, he might drive a wedge between the United States and its European friends. They wanted peace. Being nearer Russia, they were nearer destruction if war began.

Malenkov had some effect. When this country didn't bite, some Europeans criticized the United States as being too rigid. The French, who had long delayed joining a single European army in defense against Russia, delayed some more.

They feared seeing their old enemy, Germany, rearmed. If there was a single European army, German troops would be in it.

If there was a chance for peace, the European army would not be needed. The Russians even dangled the idea of a nonaggression pact before the French in an attempt to weaken their link with this country.

The Russians had other fish to fry with their peace talk too. In West Germany, for example, where Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a solid ally of the West, was up for re-election or defeat in September.

If the Russians could persuade the West Germans that tagging along with Moscow meant peace but that re-electing Adenauer might drag them into war, Adenauer might be thrown out.

Eisenhower was unimpressed by Malenkov. If the Russians meant peace, he said in April, they could prove it by deeds. There were no deeds. But Malenkov had an effect even on Sir Winston Churchill, never starry-eyed.

Churchill said maybe some good might come of a meeting between him, Eisenhower, the French Premier and Malenkov. He proposed it. Eisenhower rejected it. Summer came, and several things happened.

Workers in Russian-held East Germany rioted, showing their feeling about Moscow. That was Moscow's first big psychological setback in 1953.

The Communists agreed to a truce in Korea, which might have seemed evidence for Eisenhower of Moscow's good intentions. But the Communists wiped out that impression fast by blocking the peace talks.

Eisenhower helped pull the West Germans closer to the side of the West by pouring in food for the East Germans, who couldn't get enough from the Russians. In September Adenauer was re-elected.

After that the Russian murmurings about peace began to dwindle. Pretty soon Moscow under Malenkov looked just as it did under Stalin: sullen, stolid, capable of saying nothing but "no".

For in the meantime, starting in July, the West had begun an exchange of notes with Moscow, suggesting a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin. The notes went back and forth. No progress.

Then Eisenhower, Churchill and the French Premier, Laniel, announced they'd meet in Bermuda. The Russians said they'd consider a foreign ministers' meeting.

Out of the Bermuda meeting came the invitation to the ministers' meeting in Berlin and a few hours later Eisenhower proposed pooling atomic materials.

Galion Motorist Fined Three Times and Jailed

Special to The Star

GALION—Harvey Craner, 67, of near Galion, was fined and given a three-day jail sentence when he was heard on three charges before Mayor Jay F. Nichols, Wednesday.

Craner was fined $25 and costs on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, and the same fine for resisting an officer, in addition to a third fine of $100 and costs for driving his automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. On the latter charge, a three-day jail sentence was given Craner. He was committed to the Crawford County jail.

Craner was involved in an accident last Saturday.

In another case, Ralph Sharr, 43, of Galion was fined $25 and costs on an assault and battery charge brought by his wife.

Ohioan Will Compete For Rhodes Scholarship

HARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Raymond E. Griffiths of East Liverpool, Ohio, a student at Bethany College, was selected yesterday to represent West Virginia in competition for coveted Rhodes scholarships.

Also selected was Giles D. H. Snyder of Charleston, a West Virginia University law student.

Two Appointed To Red Cross Chairmanships

Melvin G. Weston, Mrs. H. L. Arbogast Will Direct Programs

Awarding of service pins, announcement of the appointment of two chairmen and reports of chairmen made up the monthly business session, of the board of directors of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding. L. H. Larsen, chapter chairman, presided.

Melvin G. Weston was named chairman of the blood program and Mrs. H. L. Arbogast was named chairman of home care of the sick. Both were elected to membership on the board.

Was Co-Chairman

Mr. Weston, who succeeds Robert S. Kraner as blood program chairman, is agency supervisor with the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Co. His experience in Red Cross Work includes serving as co-chairman of the blood program recruitment committee. He served in the Army medical administrative corps in World War II and is now a member of the Engineers Corps Reserves. He is married and has two children. The family lives at 564 Oak St.

The chairman presented pins to Mrs. John P. Courtright and Mrs. E. G. Siefert for their 10 years of service in Red Cross work and awarded five year pins to Miss Edna Dutton and Richard Probst.

Charlton Myers, home service chairman, reported that the work of this department is being carried on by Mrs. W. A. Dennis, a volunteer worker and that to date no professional worker has been employed.

Campaign Falls Short

In discussing the United Appeals campaign which fell short of its goal by several thousand dollars, the chairman expressed concern over the local situation should Marion be the victim of a disaster. He commented that so far Marion had been lucky but questioned how long the luck would hold. "As a result of this we have fallen into the belief that it can't happen here" he added, in referring to the recent disaster at Vicksburg, Miss.

The chairman reported receipt of a gift of $10 as a memorial to the late David Isaly, a member of the board whose death occurred recently. Charlton Myers was appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Mr. Isaly.

Service Reports

Reports of the services for November were as follows:

Home service: 39 cases open during the month, 19 cases continued into December, 57 interviews conducted, 39 requests for information on limited service received, telephone and wire messages sent and received and three investigations made for other chapters.

Peter Paola, chairman of the Verdugo Hills Sertoma Club, said telegrams were sent to the mayors of Montrose in Alabama, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and West Virginia.

Plan a Special Tree-Trimming Dinner

Families Will Enjoy Ham Poulet With Molded Salad for Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Christmas eve plans are in the making. In your mind's eye you see the tree standing by the fireplace — tall, green and handsome. You want to have an especially good supper for the family before your tree-trimming fun starts. Something easy to prepare — but something enticing.

May we suggest a menu? Have nibblers for the first course —black and green olives, stuffed celery, maybe radishes. Go on to Ham Poulet over toast — utilizing a can of condensed cream of chicken soup for the sauce. Then, just to make the table really festive, serve a salad-desert of gelatin and fruit cocktail molded in Christmas tree shapes.

HAM POULET

Ingredients: ¼ pound cooked ham (about 1 cup when prepared), 2 tablespoons flour, ¾ cups milk, one 10¾-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup (undiluted), one 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms (drained).

Method: Cut ham in thin slivers about 2 inches long. Measure flour into saucepan; slowly stir in milk so mixture will be smooth. Add coup, stirring well to blend. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil and is slightly thickened. Add mushrooms and slivered ham. Heat to simmering, stirring constantly. Serve over toast. Makes 4 servings. Recipe may be doubled or tripled.

Note: If desired, 1 tablespoon cooking sherry may be added to Ham Poulet just before serving.

CHRISTMAS TREE MOLDS

Ingredients: 1 package lime-flavor gelatin, 1 cup very hot water, 1 cup minus 2 tablespoons fruit juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ cups (No. 2 can) drained fruit cocktail, 1 cup cream (whipped and sweetened), maraschino cherries.

Method: Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add fruit juice and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in fruit. Turn into individual Christmas tree molds. Chill until firm; unmold. Make tree design on top of molds, using whipped cream in pastry bag. Serve with remaining whipped cream and maraschino cherries for dessert. Makes 8 servings.

Liquor Permit Freeze Lifted

Kenton, Delaware Clubs Get Licenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state liquor department yesterday lifted its freeze on permits and issued 17 new ones.

Seven permits for private clubs, five for sale of liquor in taverns and five for night clubs were the first issued since April 11, 1949.

Other new permits will be issued after thorough investigation of applications, Director Anthony A. Rutkowski said. He did not say when.

Yesterday's permit grants included:

Fraternal Order of Eagles, Delaware Aerie No. 376, 38 E. Winter St., Delaware, Delaware County, private club, application filed Sept. 17, 1953.

Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, 117 E. Franklin St., Kenton, Hardin County, private club, application filed July 30, 1953.

Air Force Crash Near Warren Fatal to Two

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Two airmen were killed and another suffered a broken hip when an Air Force "Flying Boxcar" crashed into a partially cleared woodlot and burned at nearby Newton Falls yesterday afternoon.

At Sewart Air Force Base near Smyrna, Tenn., the dead flier's were identified as 2nd Lt. Ronald L. Mayer of Stillman Valley, Ill., and Airman 2. C. Julius W. Springer of Berlin, N. J.

Lt. Thomas H. Ferndorf, 23, of Cincinnati — the only survivor—parachuted seconds before the C119 plane hit some trees on the Ed Mason farm.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor James A. Rhodes said yesterday's final distribution of sales tax money for 1953 totaled $1,767,928. Three counties receiving their first share of sales tax money since June 30 were Muskingum, $67,261; Washington, $33,927, and Pickaway, $20,625. American Pilot Charged With Stealing Gold

PARIS (AP)—Paris police say an American pilot arrested here last week on charges of stealing $34,285 worth of gold is the Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, whose wife's appeal to Generalissimo Francisco Franco during the Spanish Civil War got him out of a death sentence.

The 44-year-old Illinois - born adventurer, a pilot for Swiss Air for the past year, was accused in connection with the disappearance of 59 pounds of gold bullion from a Swiss Air plane he piloted from Paris to Geneva Oct. 5.

Paris police said last night they had been told Swiss authorities plan to ask Dahl's extradition to Switzerland for trial there, indicating Swiss and French police have agreed the alleged theft occurred in Switzerland.

Dahl was shot down and captured by Franco's insurgents in 1937 while flying for the Spanish Republicans. He was sentenced to death but Franco reprieved him when his pretty blonde wife sent her photograph and an appeal for mercy to the Spanish rebel chief.

Legal Christmas Trees No Problem in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico is going to have at least 112,019 legal Christmas trees this year. The Agriculture Department has issued permits for the import of that many foreign-grown trees so far.

The government forbids the cutting of trees in Mexico. It's trying to build back depleted forests.

And there's no law against trees of metal, or some other non-growing material.

EX-POLICE CHIEF DIES

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held Saturday morning for Hugh J. McDermott, 76, East Liverpool chief of police for 31 years before he retired in 1947. He died yesterday following a heart attack. He claimed to have been one of the early teachers of the late newspaper columnist O. O. McIntyre, and said when McIntyre was a cub reporter he used to take him along when he patroled his beat.

C. W. Davidson Elected Head Of AFL Unions

Carroll W. Davidson was elected president for the 10th year at a meeting of the Marion Central Labor Union (AFL) Tuesday night. Elected with him were: Carl Bryant, vice president; Ray Beverly, secretary-treasurer and Carl A. Castle, trustee. Continuing as trustees for another year are Earl J. Camp and William Armbruster.

Davidson is a delegate from Marion Local No. 531, American Federation of Musicians. Bryant and Castle are members of the Moulders local and Armbruster and Camp represent the Erie Railroad Maintenance of Way Local.

It was brought out in the meeting that members are interested in the grade crossing elimination project and following the discussion the president was appointed to meet with John Ruth, chairman of the Grade Crossing Committee, and arrange a committee meeting in January to make further plans.

Tentative plans include naming a day in February for a general drive in local shops to raise funds for financing a traffic survey here, first step toward grade crossing elimination. In the opinion of the group something should be done regarding the congested traffic in the city which results in delays in reporting for work in the shops.

Letters were received from Senators Bricker and Burke and Congressman Betts in reply to those sent by the Union regarding the proposed change in the Social Security bill.

Engineer's Project

Map of Sewer System In City Being Designed

A project to design and draw a map showing a complete picture of the storm and sanitary sewer systems in Marion is now underway in the office of City Engineer Thomas S. Cathers.

In charge of the assistant city engineer, John V. Ruth, purpose of the project is to place all basic information on one map so that city officials and other individuals need not wade through complicated detail maps of each sewer to learn its location, depth below the surface and other facts.

Preliminary work on the map has just begun, Ruth said, and he estimated completion of the entire map will require from three to four months. He is assisted in the project by J. E. Fletcher, also an assistant city engineer.

First and most tedious part of the project is the compilation of all data concerning sanitary and storm water sewers. This means going back through record books in the city engineer's office, studying the detail maps, and in some cases looking up descriptions of street paving contracts in which installation of sewers was included, Ruth said.

As the necessary data is compiled it will be transposed into lines and figures on the master sewer map. Each sanitary sewer will be indicated with a solid line and the storm water sewers by dotted lines.

Also location of the sewers in relation to each other will be indicated by position of the lines, Ruth pointed out. In addition to showing the routes of the sewers, the maps will also show connections of branch sewers to main or trunkline sewers, location of manholes for servicing and inspection, and will give the depth below the surface and other necessary numerical data.

Cathers said it was decided to begin the project after other work of the office was cleaned up early this fall and there were no other street improvement or other construction projects requiring design or estimates be made.

He added that such a map is a definite need in that it will provide present and future city officials with a map easily understood by even the layman. It will show exactly what the city has and does not have in the way of sewers and if kept up to date may prove invaluable to future city engineers, Cathers said.

Fines, Forfeitures Of $8,000 Reported

A record total of some $8,150 was paid out to city, county and state treasuries by Marion Municipal Court from fines, costs, bond forfeitures and other money collected during November, Mrs. Clara Fleck, clerk, reported today.

Of the total collected in the criminal division $6,118.90 went to the city treasury with $5,007.90 assigned to the general fund and $1,111 earmarked for the street repair and maintenance fund.

Another $1,111 was paid to the state treasury as its half-share of fines, costs and bond forfeitures collected in arrests by state highway patrolmen.

The County received $740 of the remainder and the sheriff's department was paid $35 in mileage and turn-key fees.

Another $146 was paid to the city general fund from money collected in costs and other fees in the court's civil division.

PASTOR DIES

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for the Rev. David Hayes Permar, 60, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. He died Tuesday.

Police Probe Brutal Slaying Of Girl, Youth

PAMPLICO, S. C. (AP)—Footprints leading across a five-acre cornfield gave police today a major clue in the crude beheading of a high school girl and the pistol slaying of her 22-year-old escort.

An abandoned well in the field, surrounded by towering pines, last night yielded the head of Miss Betty Clair Cain, 15, of Pamplico and the body of Harvey B. Allen of Latta. Both had been shot, apparently at close range.

Sheriff John Hanna and state law enforcement division officers picked up several men, both white and Negro, during the night for questioning. Florence police today broadcast an alert for a 6 foot, 1 inch Negro.

M. N. Cates, identification specialist, rushed here from Columbia and spent the night making plaster casts of two sets of footprints in the field.

The two sets gave rise to a police theory that more than one man was involved in the slayings.

High feeling was evident from the talk of townspeople who yesterday had closed their stores and turned out in masse at the funeral arranged for Miss Cain, a popular high school sophomore. There was also evidence that some residents feared the killer was still at large in tnis region. Several houses kept their lights on all night, parents refused to let their children go out alone and front doors were barred.

Cat Adopts Squirrel

AGOURA, Calif. (AP) — Mr. Peabody, a sharp-toothed squirrel, has been adopted by Mrs. Timothy, a cat which has three kittens.

Mrs. Max Goldsmith found the baby squirrel, put him on a bottle, and then—

"I waited until the cat was away and then stroked the kittens just after petting the squirrel in order to transfer the squirel's odor to Mrs. Timothy's babies. When the cat returned she sniffed around a bit and soon began licking the squirrel."

Crestliner Asks $25,000 In Bucyrus Suit

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Jacob Ackerman, 20, of New Washington, is named defendant in a $25,415 action for money filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by Wayne Eckert, 36, of near Crestline.

Eckert claims he suffered severe and permanent injuries in a collision one mile east of Sulphur Springs on County Highway 6 about 3:15 a.m. on Dec. 24, 1951, involving cars driven by Eckert, Ackerman and James Caris. According to the plaintiff's petition, Eckert's car was involved in a collision with a car, driven by Caris and the two cars were interlocked when Ackerman's car struck the Caris car, jolting Eckert's car in which the plaintiff was sitting.

The plaintiff charges Ackerman with seven acts of negligence and alleges Ackerman was going 65 miles an hour when he hit the Caris car.

Eckert avers he is unable to sleep at night and suffers from headaches and dizzy spells, which he maintains are the result of injuries to his neck, back and arms.

Vejprava's Hat Trick Gives Barons Third-Place Tie

Marion Ace Tops League After 6-3 Win Over Troy

Gordon Vejprava led the Marion Barons to a 6-3 win over visiting Troy last night at the Coliseum.

The Golden Boy turned in his third hat trick of the season to top the International League performers in that department. His three goals also put him in the lead in that department with 21 for the season.

Tie for Third

Last night's win, witnessed by 1,987 fans, boosted the Marion team into a tie for third place with the visiting Bruins. Both have racked up 26 points in league action.

The Bruins broke fast and went ahead when Jack Lindsay pumped a score past Lou Crowdis after 3:08 had elapsed. He was assisted by Julius Swick and Steve Gaber.

Vejprava took charge of Marion affairs at the 7:55 mark when he belted a goal into the corner of the net. He was unassisted. Less than a minute later, at 8:42, he batted in his second. This time he also was unassisted after digging the disc off the boards and scoring on a backhand shot which was just out of reach of the Troy goal tender, Julian Klymkiw.

Count Knotted

Before the period ended, Gordon Buttrey knotted the score for Troy. He scored at 10:08 with an assist going to Bill Lindsay. It was the first of two goals for Buttrey.

Vejprava completed his hat trick at 3:39 of the second period when he put Marion ahead to stay. Wimpy Jones and Coach Ott Heller assisted with passes. Paul Emms accounted for what proved to be the winning goal at 6:03 of that period. Joe Ingoldsby and Murray Wilkie combined to get him the disc and he sneaked it in from two feet to the right of the net. Hal Jones followed with a score at 9:08. Ken Schultz and Tony Poeta were credited with assist.

Buttrey narrowed the Marion margin after 7:25 of the final period when he scored with an assist from Bill Lindsay and George Edwards. However, Poeta and Schultz combined to get that one back in a hurry. Poeta, with Schultz assisting, scored at the 8:10 mark to end the scoring.

One Man Short

Troy's last goal came while Marion was one man short and just five seconds after they had gotten their fourth man back. Wilkie and Emms were in the box at the same time but the Bruins were unable to crack the defense.

Lou Crowdis ended the game with 26 saves while Klymkiw batted away 30 Marion shots.

Vejprava's first hat trick was scored at the Coliseum on Oct. 18 against Louisville in the second IHL game played here. His second was notched against the same Troy team on Nov. 26 at the Troy arena.

The Barons will travel to Cincinnati Friday night for a game with the league-leading Mohawks. On Sunday, Grand Rapids will be at the Coliseum. Just prior to the Sunday game, Miss Anne Gillies, Coliseum skating pro, will present a figure skating exhibition.

EXTRA-PROUD TRAINER

MIAMI (AP) — Most horse trainers are proud to have one stakes winner during a year. But Harry Trotsek is extra-proud. He developed nine different stakes winners during 1953 and five of them were $100,000 races. Trotsek handles the Hasty House Farm horses who will race in Hialeah this winter.

Browns Close Regular Action Against Eagles

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Browns, just two victories away from their first perfect year since joining the National Football League, close out their regular season against the Eagles at Philadelphia Sunday.

Their last game will be the playoff Dec. 27 against the Western Division winner for the pro football championship.

The Browns, who clinched the Eastern Division title two weeks ago and then walloped the New York Giants last Sunday, won their first game against Philadelphia, 37-13.

The Eagles improved after that licking but slumped two weeks ago and lost to the Giants.

Nothing much will be at stake this time, except the Browns' clean record. Possibly Coach Paul Brown again will turn the passing over to substitute quarterback George Ratterman.

Ratterman, who sat out most of the season, connected on 15 of 27 passes against the Giants for 235 yards and 3 touchdowns.

Rose Bowl Ducats Gone

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State College made this terse announcement today — no more Rose Bowl tickets for sale here.

This meant that the general public would not get a chance to buy tickets in Michigan for the Michigan State-UCLA football game.

Michigan State was allotted approximately 14,000 tickets.

Alumni—the old grads—students and faculty members were given the first chance at the tickets.

Cincinnatians Schedule Navy in 1956 Campaign

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati flexed its football muscles a bit today following announcement the Bearcats would play Navy in 1956.

Announcement that UC had grabbed a place on the Navy 1956 schedule was made by Athletic Director M. Charles Mileham at Cincinnati's football banquet last night. There was no announcement as to where the game would be played.

Michigan State is a member of the seven-team Western Intercollegiate Hockey League.

Thurman Hull, basketball coach at the University of Texas, gained his first coaching experience as pilot of the 1942-43 Fort Monmouth team. His squad won the Army-Navy championship that season.

THE QUEEN She's Barbara Louise Schmidt, 17, Pasadena, Calif., chosen Rose Bowl queen for the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses parade and football game in Pasadena. Barbara, a Pasadena college student, is a dimpled brunette with brown eyes. She's 5-6, with 35 bust, 24 waist, 34 hips.

To Fill Vacancies

Buckeye League May Be Saved; Study Under Way

Hopes for the survival of the Buckeye League were brightened Wednesday when representatives of the three remaining schools, Harding, Fremont and Findlay, met at Findlay.

The three schools decided to attempt to fill the vacancies existing in the league. Those vacancies were created when Bowling Green, Tiffin Columbian and Fostoria announced they would leave the Buckeye Loop at the end of the present school year.

Representatives at yesterday's meeting gave no indication of what schools might be invited to enter the circuit. A meeting was tentatively scheduled for January to issue the formal invitation and to determine what functions will be operated on a league basis The new league may include in addition to football, basketball and track, golf and tennis as well as competition in the various school's vocal and instrumental music departments.

Representing Harding at the meeting were Lester L. Dickey, city superintendent of schools; Cecil Gabler, principal at Harding; and Kenneth Somerlot, athletic coordinator. Findlay was represented by Al Matton, acting principal; George Constein, former principia now on special assignment by the school board; Mrs. Zola D. Jacobs, superintendent; and M. A. Keller, athletic director. From Fremont were Clarence Cooper, principal, and John Titsworth, athletic coordinator.

Illinois Cagers Cop 3rd; Loss Given Dayton

NEW YORK (AP)—Although Indiana has been awarded the No. 1 spot in college basketball by the experts in the Associated Press preseason poll, the Hoosiers first have to win the Big Ten title.

Illinois may have something to say about this. The Illini are rated No. 9 in the country and they probably are Indiana's only worry in the conference.

Last night, the Illini made Butler their third straight victim without a loss, 80-48, with 6-foot-9 John Carr hitting for 31 points to bring his total to 823, an all-time Illinois scoring record.

So long as the Illini can send Carr on the floor, they'll be title threats.

The only other ranked school to get into action last night was Dayton, which was rated right behind Duquesne as a power in the East. But the school dropped its first decision of the young season to Miami of Ohio 72-70.

This result could throw an entire new complexion on the East. Fordham, one of the dark horses, won its third straight, defeating Yale 80-51. The Rams, a crew of real sharpstooters, made good 29 of their 56 tries from the floor and Ed Conlin made all nine of his free throws.

Oklahoma City, another team which could cause trouble in the Southwest, raced past Texas A&M 60 - 38. Arnold Short scored 30 points.

Except for Princeton, the Ivy League had a successful night. Cornell broke its own scoring record for a single game in its 92-37 romp against Clarkson. The old mark of 87 points was set only a week ago against Hobart.

Penn defeated Muhlenberg 78-63; Brown trounced Northeastern 73-62; and Harvard recorded a 71-55 victory over Wesleyan.

Princeton dropped a 69-61 decision to Lafayette for the only league loss.

Southern Methodist fought off a last-quarter rally to lick Tulsa 72-70 and Navy scored a 63-55 victory over American International.

HIT BY CAR, DIES

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Steve Zeleric, about 55, died last night after being hit by a car on U.S. 68 north of Springfield. Charles Wagner, 70, of Rt. 3, New Carlisle, was killed by a car on U.S. 40 west of nearby Donnelsville.

Serious Business

County Basketball Play Features 4 Top Teams

The Marion County Basketball League gets down to serious business Friday as four quintets, unbeaten in league play clash in two of the four games on tap.

A "big one" sends Claridon, county tournament champs last season, against Prospect, 1-0, on the latter's floor. Claridon, led by Gene Jessie, Bud Price and Bob Johnson, has impressively turned back Martel 82-33 and Caledonia 52-32 in its two loop starts. Prospect downed the same Caledonia squad 53-43 in its league opener two weeks ago.

Another game of importance pits Meeker, 1-0, against the defending county league champs, Waldo, on the Waldo court. Waldo, paced by Don Yake and Keith Augenstein, has defeated Pleasant 54-42 and Green Camp 66-47 for its 2-0 league slate. Meeker handed LaRue its first league defeat 59-51 last week.

Meanwhile, Morral's cagers will also be going after their third straight county league victory on their home floor against a winless Green Camp squad. Morral's two victories have come over New Bloomington 82-35 and Pleasant 71-28.

In the remaining league match, Pleasant and Martel will be seeking to climb out of the league cellar with their first loop win of the season. Both squads are 0-2 in league play.

LaRue, 1-1 in league action, entertains Marseilles in a non-league game while New Bloomington, also 1-1 in the league, and Caledonia, tied with Pleasant, Green Camp and Martel for the league's cellar position, are idle.

Jeff Cravath Remains Critical After Accident

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP)—Ex-Football Coach Jeff Cravath of the University of Southern California, still on the critical list, showed signs of improvement today from severe injuries received in a traffic accident.

Rushed to a hospital after a truck collision a few miles west of here yesterday, Cravath was still in a semi-coma at last reports but was able to recognize his wife, Peggy, and a few friends. His injuries include brain concussion, a punctured lung and multiple rib fractures.

Cravath, 50, retired from coaching in 1950 and came to nearby El Centro more than a year ago to engage in the cattle and produce business.

Cobb won 12 American League batting championships, nine of them in a row (1907-1915). He finished his career with a lifetime mark of .367, highest in the tied with Pleasant, Green Camp history of the majors.

Big Ten Heads Continue Study Of TV Question

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State's probation status, a new Big Ten football television proposal, and a plan for automatic Rose Bowl selection in case of a co-championship—were the main items of business at today's Big Ten winter meeting.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson will make an oral report to the 10 faculty representatives on the Spartans probation that has been in effect since Feb. 22.

It originally was to run for at least one year. Even if Wilson should recommend that it be lifted—and this is only speculative—there may be no rush for the facultymen to do so.

Wilson has said MSC has shown "very satisfactory progress" and presumably has done everything possible to try for an accounting of the Spartan Foundation, a booster-sponsored fund allegedly used for recruiting.

MSC had no control or supervision of the financial outlay.

The Big Ten TV Committee hopes to secure regional control of live television and mapped a plan that is to be submitted to the facultymen after approval of all athletic directors. The eventual decision will guide the Big Ten in the NCAA convention at Cincinnati next month.

The NCAA for two years has voted for restricted live television on a national basis and last January turned down the Big Ten's regional suggestion.

Athletic directors are expected to act on this recommendation adopted yesterday by football coaches: That in case of a tie for the football title, the last team to have made the Rose Bowl trip will be eliminated. If neither team has gone before, the bowl selection should be made on the flip of a coin.

Business Men's League keglers were paced by F. Schneider's 235-586 at Palace Recreation. Six 200 games were posted there. Hoffman Refrigerator led the teams with its 949-2710 performance.

Rosemary Seiter's 169-440 and Dale Mulvany's 233-595 led the way in the Mom & Pop League. Team No. 1 with 658-1897 took team laurels.

FOUR HORSEMEN HONOR LATTNER. The famed Four Horsemen of the University of Notre Dame surround All-America Johnny Lattner, the standout back, as he holds the Heisman trophy in New York. The trophy is awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club to the year's outstanding college football player. Left to right are: Don Miller, Elmer Layden, Lattner, Jim Crowley, and Harry Stuhldreher. Actual presentation of the trophy took place at a dinner later in the evening.

EXPENSIVE TROUT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Each trout hooked in a West Virginia stream this year is worth 41 cents. That's what the conservation commission estimates it costs the state to rear, transport and place "Little Brother Finny" within casting distance of the Izaak Waltons. Nearly 51 tons of fish were grown in four West Virginia hatcheries for the stocking program at a cost of $132,735.66 — or an average of $1.21 a pound.

Pioneer Ohio Financier Dies

Cleveland Rites Set For Charles A. Otis, 85

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mounted police, to whom he was an unofficial "godfather," will escort the body of Charles A. Otis to its grave Saturday.

Mr. Otis — often called "Mr. Cleveland"—Died yesterday at 85 after a career which included investment banking, industrial promotion, newspaper publishing, shorthorn cattle breeding, politics, philanthropy and cow punching.

Probably the men dearest to him in his old age were the members of Troop A, the mounted police he sent to Mexico City for an exhibition in 1946. Each year patrolmen called on him on his birthday. Six of them will be pallbearers at his funeral services in the Church of the Covenant.

The son of a onetime Cleveland mayor and banker, Otis was a cowboy for three years following his graduation from Yale University. After that he returned to Cleveland where he organized a steel commission and agency business.

Later he organized the investment firm which became Otis & Co. and by 1900 he was a millionaire and the first Clevelander to buy a seat on the New York Stock Exchange.

He founded the Cleveland News by buying and consolidating the old Cleveland World, the Evening Plain Dealer and the News and Herald. Later he sold the paper to Dan R. Hanna, and now it is owned by the Forest City Publishing Co.

Memory of Willkie To Be Honored by Akron Legion Post

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The memory of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate in 1940, will be honored tonight in the Akron Jewish Center.

His widow, Edith, and their son, Phillip, will be present when a bronze plaque in honor of the exponent of "one world" is unveiled. Willkie died in 1944.

Sponsor of the ceremony is the Wendell Willkie Post of the American Legion of which Willkie was commander during his 10 years in Akron. He was 27 when he came to Akron in 1919 to take a $175-a-month job in the law department of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, Gov. Frank J. Lausche and John S. Knight, president and editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, will speak at tonight's program.

Fire Damage Increases Here

Total November Loss Climbs to $39,000

Total fire losses in Marion during November showed a big increase over the total for the same month last year, according to a monthly report of department activities issued today by Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt.

Total losses were estimated at $39,000 last month, nearly six times as much as the $6,650 total for November, 1952. However, Chief Sifritt noted that the total number of fire runs was up only slightly this year with 57 runs compared with 53 last year.

Fighting last month's fires, the department laid 8,300 feet of one-inch hose, 100 feet of one and one-half inch hose and 1,850 feet of two and one-half inch hose. Also brooms were used six times, carbon dioxide fire extinguishers once, gas detectors once, salvage covers 11 times, and 175 feet of ladders were raised.

Total cost of operating the department for the month was $12,932 with the largest portion, $12,270, paid for salaries and the balance paid for supplies and services to the department.

Forests originally covered about one-third of all the world's land areas.

America Home Buyers Setting Payment Mark

CHICAGO (UP) — Home buyers are setting a "phenomenal" record in keeping up regular monthly payments on their mortgage loans. The Mortgage Bankers Association of America reported.

The association's mortgage servicing committee conducted a nationwide survey and found that less than 1 per cent of home buyers under the GI and FHA loan programs were two months in arrears as of Sept. 30.

Only .41 of 1 per cent of the GI borrowers surveyed were delinquent two months. For three months, the delinquency figure was .19 of 1 per cent.

Only .30 of 1 per cent of the FHA borrowers surveyed were two months in arrears, and only .12 of 1 per cent were three months behind in their payments.

For conventional mortgages — those made without government insurance or guarantee — .31 of 1 per cent of the loans were two months delinquent, and .18 of 1 per cent were three months in arrears.

The study covered 70 per cent of the mortgage loans serviced by members of the association.

"The credit record being set by American mortgagors is one of the best in the whole credit field today and reflects the sound conception of the modern amortized mortgage loan and the inherent advantage it affords home owners and investors," said Brown L. Whatley, association president.

Flying Dinosaurs May Greet Dakota Tourists

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UP)—Tourists to the Black Hills of South Dakota may be scared out of their wits next year.

If E. A. Sullivan has his way, they'll be startled by a flying dinosaur.

Sullivan, who created a herd of dinosaurs which look down upon the city from a hill and which is a major tourist attraction, is now planning to create a flying dinosaur.

He is completing plans for a radio-controlled, flying Pteranodol. It will have an eight - foot - long body, and a 30-foot wingspread. It will be kept aloft by helium, propelled by a small engine, and guided by ralio.

Totals To Be Kept Up to Date

Ohio Department of Highway Safety To Use New Accident-Reporting Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How many people have died in Ohio traffic accidents so far this year? Is the total larger or smaller than for the corresponding period last year?

Those are questions no one in the state can answer. That' because there's a three-month lag between fatal accidents and their tabulation in a state total.

The latest figures the state highway department has been able to compile cover the first eight months of 1953. They show 1,257 deaths for that period, compared with 1,225 through August of 1952.

The department's bureau of traffic and safety, which only recently issued its report on 1952 accidents, says there were 2,013 traffic deaths in Ohio during all of last year.

The 1,257 total for the first eight months of 1953 isn't final, being subject to change by late reports.

The State Highway Patrol compiles figures on accidents outside cities. The highway department uses these figures plus others it gets periodically from the state bureau of vital statistics. These later figures include deaths of persons after the accident.

The Associated Press compiles a regular weekend tabulation of traffic deaths, compiled by its member newspapers and supplemented by reports from the State Highway Patrol, deputy sheriffs and city police. These often are sketchy because of deaths after tabulations are published.

The bureau of motor vehicles gets reports on accidents involving personal injury, but has not tabulated the deaths since the reports became necessary March 1.

All this is expected to be changed early next year when the new department of highway safety sets up a new system of recording traffic accidents. It is expected that when this happens state totals will be not more than one week or 10 days old.

The Associated Press asked member newspapers to report whether traffic fatalities in their areas are running higher than during the corresponding period last year.

The answers cover only a fraction of the state, but more said there have been fewer deaths.

The figures reported by the newspapers, which ran into the first few days or week of December:

CLEVELAND—107 this year, 97 in 1952.

Tuscarawas County — 26 this year, 16 in 1952.

Toledo—27 this year, 33 in 1952.

Montgomery County — 73 this year, 83 in 1952.

Dayton alone—26 this year, 32 in 1952.

Butler County—53 this year, 29 in 1952.

Hamilton alone—7 this year, 4 in 1952.

Columbiana County — 25 this year, 32 in 1952.

Van Wert County—9 this year, 13 in 1952.

Stark County—71 this year, 63 in 1952.

Canton alone—11 this year, 6 in 1952; Massillon 2 this year, 2 in 1952; Alliance, 3 this year (54 deaths on rural roads in Stark County this year to date compared to 30 last year.)

The state highway department says last year there were 10 Ohio counties with 40 or more traffic deaths. It said Cuyahoga led the state with 163 deaths for the entire year. Only five miles of state highways in Cuyahoga County are outside of municipalities.

The department said there were 93 traffic deaths in Hamilton County for all of last year, 90 in Montgomery County, and 90 in Franklin County. It listed Morgan and Perry counties as having but one death each for the entire year.

Food, Clothing Improve

U.S. Troops Get Better Break in Korea

TOKYO (NANA) — American troops in Korea will be better off this winter than at any time since the beginning of the war. They will be better fed and better housed. Sartorially speaking they will be not only warm but in style.

Winter uniforms now being issued to the men of the Eighth Army will cover them head to toe in multiple layers of clothing.

The nearer the 38th Parallel a man is stationed the more clothing he can draw, until his torso is covered with seven layers of apparel from cotton underwear to fleece-lined parkas.

Designers in the Quartermaster Corps have come up with a new color that is the fashion rage among privates as well as generals. It is olive green, the color now dyed into winter woolen shirts and trousers. Until now olive drab was the regulation color, with only generals sporting olive green. But now green is commonplace in all avenues of military life.

LAST WINTER men on the line had to eat canned C-rations which become dull the second time around. This year everybody will receive 4,000 calories a day, consisting of fresh fruits, vegetables, fresh frozen meats and canned dairy products. Men living in extreme cold on mountain tops will have their rations supplemented by approximately 600 extra calories.

Housing, such as it is, is characterized by warmth and recreation. Even men manning the main battle positions will live in winterized squad tents complete with two fuel oil field tent stoves. Winterization of tents consists of providing the tent with a floor, frame and skirting. The floor is usually of wood, although some concrete floors have been poured. The tents are located near the battle positions.

Each company has been provided with four prefabricated buildings. Two of these will be used for company mess, one for supply and administration and one for all-important recreation. Candles and lanterns will supply shadowed lighting during the long winter nights.

IN THE REAR, the Eighth Army is erecting community centers. These centers will have prefabricated quonsets or barracks devoted to recreation halls, game rooms, music rooms, libraries, gymnasiums, snack bars, post exchanges, theatres and chapels. There will also be troop information and education quonsets in each community center for men eager to further their schooling.

When the soldier is not on a training mission, maintaining his unit's equipment or on guard against the enemy, he will have opportunity to enjoy himself. In either case he'll be warm and well fed.

Young Americans Seek Higher Types of Jobs

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Young Americans no longer want to follow in their fathers' footsteps, a Southern Illinois university survey shows.

The survey of 1,962 high school seniors showed most of the students had their sights set on occupations and professions much higher than those of their parents, said Dr. Alice Rector, SIU student employment supervisor.

Dr. Rector said four times as many youths desired professional jobs as there were fathers in such occupations.

The survey indicated an increasing number of young people will move from rural or small town areas to large cities where there is need for their professions.

She said the survey also showed more student counseling was needed because students were limiting themselves unnecessarily in their choice of occupations due to lack of knowledge of various fields.

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

AP Newsfeatures

When Willie the pup and the Dreamlins, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little, get to Santa Land, they almost get in trouble when Willie bites Patrick Tweedleknees by mistake. But Santa forgives them. The Dreamlins tell Santa they need his help to find their queen.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Mr. Not Much reminded Santa that if the Dreamlin Queen was not rescued the Dreamlins would perish. Who then, he asked, would protect the children of the world from the wicked Gremlins.

"True, true," said Santa. He was very upset. He walked back and forth in front of his fireplace thinking. Willie followed at his heels.

"Stay in Santa Land awhile," said Santa at last. "I will think of something. Give me time."

Patrick Tweedleknees exploded. "If that dog stays in Santa Land I am leaving!"

"Willie is a good pup," smiled Santa. "He will be our watch dog."

A WATCH dog in Santa Land Willie nearly burst with pride. He licked Santa's fingers. He gladly would have licked Patrick Tweedleknees, too, but the dwarf was already stomping out of the house in a rage.

"He will get over it," said Santa. "He always does."

Willie thought, "I will stay here the rest of my life and be Santa's watch dog. But I wish someone would think of eating for I am truly starved!"

He was too polite to say anything about it. "I won't be a bother, he told himself. He crept under Santa's chair and contented himself with chewing a hole out of the bottom.

Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little curled up in an empty ash tray and went to sleep. Santa sat in his chair and tried to think of a way to save the Dreamlin Queen.

By and by, Willie thought, "Perhaps I should look around in the kitchen. After all, I am a watch dog and there may be something in the kitchen that needs watching."

WHEN HE GOT to the kitchen he smelled a lovely smell. He climbed a chair and put his front paws on the kitchen table. There, in front of him, was a plate of chocolate drop cookies and a glass of milk. Mrs. Claus had left them for Santa to have before he went to bed.

"If I tried just one, no one would miss it," said Willie to himself.

So he tried one. And then he tried two. Then three. Before he knew it the plate was empty! He sniffed underneath for crumbs and his eager nose pushed the plate right off the table.

The crash brought Santa running to the kitchen.

WILLIE LOOKED at Santa and waited to be scolded, to be run out of Santa Land, even. But Santa said, "Don't forget the milk, Willie." And he poured his own glass of milk into a saucer and put it on the floor for Willie.

When Willie had finished the milk he thought, "I am the happiest dog in the whole world." Then he went into Santa's bedroom, climbed on Santa's bed and stretched himself out on Santa's clean white pillow. Instantly he was asleep.

The next day Willie explored Santa Land. He romped through the toy snops. He liked the boots of the Santa Land workers. He frisked joyfully after the fairy workers who flitted around the doll tables. He snatched up stockings waiting to be filled and chewed great holes in their toes. Meanwhile Patrick Tweedleknees grew black in the face and his chest swelled with rage. So Santa said, "Willie, go down to the stables. You haven't seen the reindeer yet."

WILLIE GLADLY obeyed. But when he reached the stables he found they were empty. He went around to the far side of the stables and there he saw a wonderous thing.

Santa's eight reindeer were practicing their flying. They swooped high into the sky and drifted gently down. Again and again they circled above the astonished pup.

Willie sat back and watched. Never had he dreamed such a thing was possible.

Suddenly he leaped up in excitement. "I, too, shall fly!" he thought. "I shall be a flying pup!"

'Death Ray' Causes Whaling Argument

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UP) —A German "death ray" for killing whales has stirred up a big controversy in Capetown whaling taverns as fleets from throughout the world assemble for the most scientific whaling campaign in history.

Whalers from the United States, Britain, Norway and Germany massed in Table Bay have radar and anti-submarine devices developed in wartime, which now are applied to pinpointing whales.

Electric harpoons that can't miss gleam on the spotless decks of the modern fleets which also are equipped with helicopters to spot surfaced spouting whales.

Controversy among whalers was centered, however, on a German "sonic ray." Oldtimers who can recall adventurous days of juggling heavy harpoons in an open boat believe the device will bring wholesale slaughter.

The German sonic ray of beam, believed to have been developed from wartime experiments, emits a pinging noise from which the whales flee. The noise is so piercing that the mammals swim in a straight line away from the ship on which it is installed, that being the quickest way to get away from the irritating noise.

The whale's straight course, operators claim, makes it an easy target. A nudge on an electric harpoon button assures the kill.

The Cape Argus has reported, however, that "early reports indicate more is claimed than the method deserves." Sometimes, whalers say, the whale goes on a straight line, all right—but straight down.

Often, the Cape Argus said, "a whale dives 75 fathoms escaping under the beam" and "the beam can be blanketed out by an ice block."

CASCADE. Joe Pittman of Liberal, Kan., has a genuine "waterfall" of grain after he bored a hole 100-feet up a column (second from right) of his brim-full 480,000-bushel grain elevator. Pittman, who drilled the hole to relieve pressure, expects to have 100,000 bushels more on the ground before the record milo harvest is completed.

TRAFFIC TROUBLE

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UP — The city followed a traffic engineer's advice to eliminate a traffic bottleneck by prohibiting parking along a three-block zone. But irate property owners made such a clamor at city hall that workmen were ordered to return "no parking" signs to their crates before they could get them set up. Mayor Pat Kelly said he was waiting for the traffic engineer to tell him what to do next.

Then husband and wife both were struck down and hospitalized in separate incidents within a two hour period.

Mrs. Bottorff, 69, complained of being ill. While preparing to take her to the family physician, Bottorff, 79, fell and broke his hip.

Trouble Clinic Is Explained In Galion Talk

Special to The Star

GALION — "We help big people with little problems, and little people with big problems," Miss Margaret Loris told members of the Kiwanis Club at the regular luncheon-meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Talbott.

She was speaking about the work of the Galion Trouble Clinic of which she is president, in addition to her position as personnel director of The Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co. She was presented by Rev. Philip E. Auer, program chairman for the meeting.

The Trouble Clinic, she said, is a unique organization, believed to be the only one of its kind in the state, and possibly the nation. In explaining its service to Galion and the community, Miss Loris said that all work is purely voluntary on the part of those who are associated with it.

"Problems are brought to the attention of the clinic indirectly," she said, "generally through some one that knows of some one who has a real problem and is reluctant to ask anyone for help."

Each Thursday, those interested in the clinic, (and anyone interested in helping someone is invited) meet together for a luncheon discussion, Miss Loris related. She said there are 20 to 24 persons who meet every week. The representative group present—attorneys, physicians, ministers, professional men and women, and those of industry and business, all have different views and suggestions to make as the case petain to some particular field, the speaker explained.

Miss Loris told that the clinic has three social workers, and often are advised of some cases by the public health nurse. She said that the organization takes no credit for its work, and the only reward is the satisfaction of seeing a problem solved, and the gratitude which is reflected in the faces of those helped.

The speaker also pointed out that the clinic does not intend to keep anyone, but to help someone over a hump at a critical time when there is a particular need. She explained that the clinic has purchased clothing above what an agency could do, and that many personal problems as well as financial, have been solved. There was one case, she said, where an insurance premium could not be met, and the clinic made the payment to keep the family from facing a real loss.

It was explained by Miss Loris that many people are helping the clinic in its work when its good is realized. Not too long ago, two industrialists, recognizing the worthwhileness of the clinic's work, contributed money for the purchase of a car to be used by the social workers.

"We do our work as humbly as possible, and the only thing we ask in return is that the person or persons we help will do for someone else in need when the opportunity presents itself," Miss Loris pointed out.

THIS HELPS

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP) — Police said they caught Alfred G. Mills, 28, as he was looting the office of a bottling company while the burglar alarm was blaring its warning. Asked why he remained in the building after he tripped the alarm, Mills answered, "I'm hard of hearing."

CAB Makes Major Decision

Air Mail Ruling Break for Taxpayers

By EDWARD K. NELLOR

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A major policy decision by the Civil Aeronatics Board has opened the way for speedier, cheaper hauling of the nation's first-class mail.

In a 3-2 decision the board, with President Eisenhower's lone CAB appointee, Harmar D. Denny Jr., vaulting over a strong political precedent to side with the majority, has authorized small, non-subsidized airlines to carry mail on a bid basis—in other words, for what it costs.

Heretofore, at a multimillion-dollar nick in the taxpayer's pocketbook, air mail has been hauled by the major trunk airlines on a subsidy basis, with little regard to what it actually cost the airlines to handle and transport letters.

THE DECISION—in the case of the Riddle Airlines of Miami, Fla., for instance—will now permit the hauling of first-class mail between New York City and Puerto Rico on a daily basis instead of on a once-a-week mail boat.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's influence on the Post-office Department's handling of the mails is obvious in the recen CAB decision. Summerfield has already inaugurated the flying of first - class mail—in addition to mail bearing air-mail stamps—between Washington, D C. and New York and between Washington and Chicago. It is being hauled between these points on a test basis, by airlines already enjoying mail pay subsidies, who of course are being paid additionally for first-class haulage.

Of interest to the entire airline industry—and the letter - writing public as well, is the political division on the CAB over the recent decision.

OSWALD RYAN and Chan Gurney, both appointees to the CAB by former President Harry S. Truman, although both are registered Republicans, opposed the decision to allow smaller airlines to haul first class mail on a bid basis.

The CAB has been under intense fire for an almost religious adherence to the wishes of the so-called Big 12 airlines, to the detriment of the smaller, independent feeder and freight companies, according to frequent and persistent critics.

The President several months ago authorized a Federal Bureau of Investigation probe of the CAB in order to determine whether or not published reports of favoritism were substantial. The probe is still under way, with recurring indications that the CAB is in for a major housecleaning.

Washington interest in the new CAB, precedent-upsetting ruling on the mail, is centered on Denny's crossing of party lines to give the little airlines a break in hauling mail.

DENNY'S DECISION is in line with pleas that have been made for more recognition of independent airlines, such as the North American Air-coach System, Inc., which represents a group of independents seeking to merge and gain recognition equal to the major lines.

The CAB grants permanent certificates to airlines for their operations. It has not granted any since 1938, when the major lines operating today secured their government-operating rights.

According to Philip Mann, vice president of the Riddle Airlines, "the decision of the CAB that Riddle and other air-freight lines have the right to carry first-class mail in accordance with the wishes of the Postoffice Department is probably the most progressive single development in the history of air-mail service since the first air mail flight in 1928."

He and others interested in the new development of government air policy, point out that business interests and the taxpayer now footing the bill for hauling air-mail, will enjoy vast savings under the new program.

Building and Land Costs Remain Firm

CHICAGO (UP)—Building costs and real estate sales prices have remained at last year's levels, according to a survey by the National Association of Assessing Officers.

Th survey was conducted in 48 cities and 248 counties, the association said.

Jefferson County, Ky., was the only area reporting as high as a 10 per cent increase in building casts. Dade County, Fla., and Oklahoma County, Okla., reported their costs had dropped 20 to 10 per cent respectively.

Fifty-seven per cent of the cities and counties participating in the study said their building costs had stayed about the same as last year.

Ten per cent of the cities and counties recorded a fall in real estate prices, and 15 per cent reported an increase, but 75 per cent noted no change.

Dade County's 10 per cent increase in real estate prices was the highest reported, and the 15 per cent drop in prices in Oklahoma County was the greatest decrease.

Areas reporting lower prices said the drop was confined largely to older houses.

The average depth of the ocean below sea level is 12,450 feet, says the National Geographic Society.

One Acre Could Produce Year's Corn Diet for 3

CHICAGO (UP)—A single acre of American corn-belt land could support three men for a year if they lived only on corn, according to an Illinois Institute of Technology professor.

But, Prof. Milton E. Parker said, the same acre could only support the men for three months if they lived on milk, and for less than two weks if they ate nothing but steaks.

Parker explained that the annual energy requirement for a man in a sedentary job is about 900,000 calories. Directly consumed, the corn would have a value of about 3,000,000 calories. Fed to cows for milk, the yield would drop to about 700,000 calories, and to cattle for steaks to about 100,000 calories.

TWO BAD HABITS

BAYTOWN, Tex. (UP) — A bloody 18-year-old youth told police he had been beaten with a board by a man he identified, but he was slightly puzzled as to why he was beaten. He couldn't decide whether it was because he flirted with the man's wife, or because he later threw a brick through the windshield of the man's automobile. Police advised him to leave other men's wives and automobiles alone.

Challenges Recession Talk

1954 Will Be Boom Year, Business Analyst Predicts

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

SAXTON RIVER, Vt. (NANA)—If our province were to issue economic predictions I should not have much hesitancy in forecasting that 1954 will be a boom, not a slump, year. But our task is to take general predictions and opinions—and to examine them for contrary probabilities.

Let us consider these three prevailing conditions: (1) Middle-roadism (with a slight tilt leftward); (2.) General supposition that recession is here and will continue; (3.) That, however, the setback will be mild.

Add these together and what do you get? From a contrary standpoint, either: (A) accelerating momentum downward, leading into a drastic slump—with sharp cutbacks in production and with unemployment reaching headline proportion, or (B) a stimulated boost from present dead-center (generated by monetary and defense policies and by propaganda) that will expand into a renewed inflationary boom.

IT IS MY THOUGHT that the political middle-roadism (which now appears even more clearly marked) is unlikely to result in a middle economic course between the two extremes mentioned above. Stability is almost impossible to achieve, because we the people are not stable. Moreover, odds favor resumption of the boom (as I see it, contrarily) because there is as yet no letup in the public's willingness to spend. Only slight "encouragement" would seem necessary to generate a new spending spree.

When people have money "absorption" works rapidly. It will not consume much time to soak up the excess goods now noticeable in some categories. Cut prices find people ready and willing to buy. And above all, let us keep before us the monetary policy. It is definitely aimed at affording at all times a sufficient money supply to stimulate business.

If we are going to move off dead-center and into another wave of business boom (instead of heading into the advertised slump) we need to look into "intentions" that will buttress the boom. So let us note: (A) consumers' intentions, (B) business intentions, and (C) government plans.

ANOTHER SURVEY by the University of Michigan's survey research center, of consumers' intentions and opinions, has just been released in the current issue of Business Week. Past surveys of a similar character have been most helpful in diagnosing public spending.

The survey bolsters our belief that very little encouragement is needed to activate spending. People feel well off—particularly those in the $5,000-and-over income bracket. Surprising to many may be the fact that a larger majority think now is a good time to buy than in surveys during the previous two years. However, this is in line with psychology, I think. People get used to price levels. What seemed high a year or two ago, say, seems "normal" now. You see this same psychology in the stock market—former high spots appear reasonably priced when stocks rise above them and then fall back to the prior 'high."

In sum, the intentions of consumers are favorable to any stimulation either from business promotions, or from inflationary prospects. Any fear of rising prices quickly generates buying.

BUSINESS INTENTIONS: Business intends to continue its capital expenditures on a vast scale in 1954, according to surveys of management. It is expected that industry will invest nearly as much in 1954 as it did this past year.

Government Plans: The administration is more concerned about the slump fears and predictions than almost everybody else.

Hardly a day passes that some story doesn't appear about this plan or that which is being readied "just in case" it is needed to counteract a recession. The monetary counterphase is already at work and clearly marked. Plenty of money will be available; loans will loosen as bank reserves swell; down payments on homes and autos doubtless will be eased. In sum, all thought of the "hard money" program has been renounced.

Stimulants to investment are probable, also. Some easement in the capital-gains tax and in double taxation on dividends, in addition to the dropping of the excess-profits tax, is not improbable. And the cut in personal income tax will aid sentiment as well.

THE BANKS WILL BE absorbing more government paper as the deficit runs on and perhaps increases. The idea persists that a balanced budget is deflationary. Heaven forbid a deflation next year ,when votes will be important!

Suffice to say that "intentions and plans" do not add up to the expected slump. The contrary expectancy appears well founded to this contrarian.

As to the stock market, it is improbable that definite answers will be given to the question whether bull or bear trends lie ahead until January. December is frequently an indeterminate month marketwise.

There will likewise be further undamental analyses needed to aid in determining the real trends. For example, consumer Christmas trade will be significant. A big Christmas season at retail tends to stimulate sentiment, whereas if December should show a marked falling off from previous years it would dampen business sentiment and public enthusiasm as well.

If the market continues its "group fluctuations"—without a decisive plunge downward in the near term—the odds would favor an atmosphere for bullishness early next year.

There is still considerable bearishness among advisers. This helps the bull side, from a contrary standpoint. However, it should be noted that bearishness is not general at present, as it was in mid-September, prior to the recovery.

All important, I believe, is the lesson we are learning that in a prolonged armed truce one has first to seek "values and prospects"—putting ordinary market analysis in secondary importance. This is the creed we have preached for many, many months as the sound contrary approach.

Schools Set Up Class For Drivers of Buses

CHICAGO (UP) — School bus drivers in various parts of the country are being given special safety training, according to the American Municipal Association.

In Allegheny County, Pa., the county board set up a two-day school for bus drivers. About 50 were enrolled in the course, which included lectures on bus maintenance, what to do in case of accident, pupil safety and highway law enforcement.

Lecturers included police officers, a representative of the Pennsylvania Safety Council and other authorities in the field of traffic safety. After attending the classes, drivers were given actual road tests.

A school bus drivers' training school also was conducted in Sioux Falls, S. D. It was one of several that have been conducted throughout the state as part of a driver-education program designed to curb the mounting accident and leath toll on state highways.

The Soux Falls two-day training session included classes as well as a written test and a driving test.

The American Municipal Association said response to the training program has been encouraging.

FAIR GAME

CARIBOU, Me. (UP) — A New York City resident, hunting deer in the Maine woods, was found to be wearing a fur coat. Commented a game warden: "The only other thing he needed to be sure of getting shot was a pair of antlers."

Shooting Stuffed Deer Stumps Missouri Court

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP)—The Springfield Court of Appeals has weighed some tough decisions in its time, but it became involved in a real mess when faced by the question of whether a person is breaking the law if he shoots a deer out of season—a stuffed deer, that is.

The whole thing started the night of Sept. 12, 1952, when four Conservation Commission agents "planted" a stuffed deer—with car reflector type eyes—on a road in Phelps County.

Two men, said the agents, in a car containing spotlights, shotguns and rifle slug ammunition, came down the road and "shot" the stuffed animal.

A Circuit Court in Phelps County fined each defendant $250 for pursuing deer out of season, and the men appealed the case. Their attorney put it this way:

"It was the same as if I went out here and shot a dead thing and was held for murder. It just would not be murder."

To which the judge replied: "But would it be an attempt?"

The case is still undecided.

POLITICIANS PAY

BRISTOL, Conn. (UP) — Four top Democratic Party members from Bristol — including Mayor James P. Casey and Treasurer Wilfred J. Croze—held an informal meeting at police headquarters two days before they took office. They stood in line to pay $1 fines for illegal parking.

BLUE GOOSE

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—For the first time on record, a blue goose has been sighted here. Miss Ruth Schumacher, member of a bird club, spotted the unusual visitor to the Berkshires. The blue goose, smaller than the Canada goose, with a bluish head and neck, breeds on Baffin Island in the Far North, spends its winters in Louisiana, and rarely is sighted in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erwin entertained the HT. Euchre Club at the Jordan home Wednesday night. Awards for high score in cards were won by Mrs. Walter Hamilton and Charles Adams. The most lone hand prize went to Willis Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis received the consolation prize.
